"Granite Woman" Collapses In Court

IRON WILL FAILS IN CRISIS

Trial Halted When Mrs. Willis Faints During Ordeal In Court
INSANITY PLEA IS HINTED IN TRIAL
Defense Attorney to Call Alienists to Testify For Client

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, May 28.—Mrs. Margaret Willis, the "granite woman," charged with murdering Dr. Benjamin Baldwin and sleeping with his body crammed in a trunk in her apartment, "broke" in court today.

Mrs. Willis fainted in the courtroom during the forenoon session and was carried out by deputies. She soon revived, but a postponement of the trial was necessary.

Her breakdown was almost the first indication since the trial opened that the defendant was other than the "iron-nerved" woman her previous actions indicated she was.

The "power of will" volume which has carried Mrs. Willis through the ordeal of examinations and trial thus far, failed her today, and the graven countenance which has maintained during the days' quizzing blanched as she fell unconscious to the courtroom floor.

"I can't stand this any more," Mrs. Willis gasped, just before losing consciousness. The limp form of the accused woman was carried into Judge Crail's chambers, where physicians said she had suffered another of the heart attacks which first struck her in jail some days ago.

Mrs. Willis appeared weary and sick at the opening of the court session today. Dark green circles were beneath her eyes. Her skin was even more pallid than usual. She hardly spoke to her son, "Buddy" Willis, and leaned back in her chair, eyes half closed, as the trial was resumed.

Then, as her purported confession to District Attorney Keys, soon following the shooting, was read, Mrs. Willis dropped lower in her chair, and appeared to follow the proceedings with difficulty. She looked with glazed eyes at the rag which she told detectives she used to wipe up the man's blood; shuddered as she observed the saw with which, it is claimed, she attempted to cut a hole in the floor of her apartment to entomb the murdered physician, and finally was overcome when Detective Lieutenant Stevens told from the stand how she had shown him blood stains on her apartment door, and in the closet, which she attempted to cover up with shoe polish.

Bert Webster, "soul mate" of the accused woman, sat behind her, and watched her closely as it became more evident she was nearing the breaking point. He was one of those who helped carry her from the courtroom.

First intimation that a plea of insanity may be used in the case of Mrs. Willis, came today when Defense Attorney S. S. Hahn asked that several prominent alienists be summoned to examine her.

Brown, on trial for alleged heresy before the tribunal of Bishops sitting at the Trinity cathedral, collapsed and was confined to his room in the Hotel Amsterdam late today. SHORTAGE OF $47,200 IN BANK TOLD

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Charged by officials of the Bank of Italy here with embezzling $47,200 of bank funds Saturday night, Dale Rowan, chief teller, was being sought throughout California and adjoining states today. Rowan apparently closed up the bank's business as usual Saturday and took an unhurried departure, according to bank officials.

The loss was not discovered until the bank opened on Monday and had been kept quiet until today, when a description of the missing teller was broadcast.

Investigators found that Rowan, who came here from the Los Angeles branch of the Bank of Italy three years ago, had not been living with his wife and child for some time, but had been "keeping company" with another woman. She is supposed to have fled with him.

The missing man was regarded as a trusted and promising employee by bank officials. He had been employed as a teller in the Los Angeles branch for two years, after previous banking experience with the Commercial Bank of San Luis Obispo, Cal. He is aged 24.

Reapportionment Ballot Measure to Be Aired By Civic Bodies

Indicating an impending fight between rural counties and the cities for control of the state legislature, A. M. Stanley, secretary of the Orange county farm bureau, announced here today that a meeting of representatives of farm bureaus, chambers of commerce and other Southern California organizations would be held at Fairmont park, Riverside, Saturday at 2 p. m., when a reapportionment amendment initiative ballot in November is to be discussed.

Stanley added that the meeting had been called following decision made by the executive committee of the California farm bureau at Berkeley recently to circulate petitions for the initiative.

According to the manager of the county unit here, the amendment provides for fifteen senators from the three largest counties in the state—Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda—and twenty-five from the balance of the state. It also provides that no city in any county may have more than four senators.

"The case of Los Angeles county," Stanley said, "this would leave four senators outside of the city of Los Angeles, and this number should adequately represent agricultural interests in that county."

A. C. Hardison, president of the state farm bureau, it was stated, has approved contemplated plans for initiating the initiative. The signatures of 100,000 voters, it was estimated, would be needed to get the proposal on the ballot.

Stanley stated that he would present at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange at Yorba Linda tonight, brief details of the plans of the Riverside meeting and urge appointment of a large delegation of representative men to represent the county body.

Issue Vital

He would not have time to give notice to all of the farm centers of the county, Stanley said, as he received the notice only today. "The cry of battle has been issued," said the bureau man, "and it now is up to the rural communities of the state to stand by their guns and fight for the rights of proper representation in the state legislature."

"The issue is of vital interest to the so-called 'cow counties' and it will require hearty co-operation in every community to procure the number of names necessary to insure placement of the amendment on the November ballot."

"Farm bureau representatives throughout the state are keenly interested in the success of the amendment, and, according to reports, will make a hard fight to put it over. Other organizations in the rural communities should be just as deeply interested and should manifest just as much interest. It is not necessarily a farm bureau problem—it is more a rural community problem."

STANFORD SORORITY HOUSES FACING BAN

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., May 28.—The proposal to disband all undergraduate sorority organizations and house Stanford women in dormitories instead of in sorority houses is to be put to the vote of women students within a few days, it was announced today.

The move was initiated by the Pan-Hellenic Alumnae council, and is reported to have found favor with a considerable number of sorority women. The faculty is understood to be in sympathy with the move and also with a movement that is gaining headway to take similar action in regard to fraternities.

PRETTY GIRL MAY BLAST OIL CASE

Comely Orange Miss Comes to Aid of Men Accused of Fraud; Admits Part

A pretty girl came to the rescue today in the case of Jack Gaines, Orange real estate man, and Benjamin S. Brubaker, bank teller at Orange, who were arrested on a charge of selling oil stock without a permit.

While Gaines and Brubaker, who were taken into custody early today when a complaint against them was sworn to by Ralph Montgomery, were making arrangements to post $5000 bail each, Miss Mollie Minacke of Orange, young and comely, dropped a little surprise bombshell into the district attorney's office, where she declared that she was the one who had sold the stock to Montgomery.

Brubaker, she declared, had nothing to do with the transaction. She and Gaines, she stated, were associated in stock transactions, but had broker's permits, she asserted, so had violated no law. The complaint filed by Montgomery charged Gaines and Brubaker with selling corporation securities, in this case stock in Pacific Corporation well No. 5 at Signal Hill, without a permit.

Justice Jack Landel fixed bail at $5000 each and set the preliminary hearing for July 8 at 10 a. m. when Gaines and Brubaker were arraigned before him today.

The present charge is the second of a similar nature to be brought against Gaines recently. The first, which was also connected with Signal Hill properties, was dismissed at his preliminary hearing.

Clarke said he had many conferences with Dr. Evans "with a view of putting Mayfield over."

L. A. LAUNCHES INQUIRY INTO CANAL BLAST

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—Rushing into action at the behest of the city council, District Attorney Ayes Keyes was today seeking the aid of federal and state authorities in the probe of the Los Angeles aqueduct dynamiting.

Keyes was to confer with U. S. Attorney Joseph Burke here, and Attorney General Webb, at Sacramento to "determine what course shall be taken to bring those guilty of the dynamiting to swift justice."

"If our investigation can prove that the dynamiting plot resulted from a meeting held in Los Angeles, the case will be prosecuted here instead of Inyo county," Keyes said.

Possibility that the scheme was hatched here instead of the Owens Valley district was seen, Keyes said, in the report of District Attorney Hession, of Inyo county. Hession stated that the proprietor of a little lake hotel received a telephone call from Los Angeles asking what damage the blast had done, more than three hours before the dynamiting actually occurred.

3 POWERS IN FIGHT OVER INVENTION

Britisher Declares France Now Has Best Chance of Securing Device

PARIS, May 28.—Americans have entered the race to obtain the secret of Grindell Mathews' death ray, Mathews said today.

With Great Britain, the inventor's own country, and France in competition for the diabolical invention which, it is claimed, may revolutionize war and make the nation which holds it supreme, Mathews gave out that he had received a written offer from the United States.

Other reports said the National Academy of Sciences at Washington had cabled the inventor asking particulars and that American naval attaches here had been ordered to investigate Mathews' claims.

Officials in Denial

American officials here denied that the United States government was in any way interested in the ray.

The inventor kept in hiding most of the day, possibly for the purpose of avoiding process servers. Meanwhile both French and British claim to have a definite contract with the inventor entitling them to a share in the deadly ray, which kills at great distances, explodes ammunition, destroys machinery and brings down airplanes in flames, according to Mathews.

When the latter, angry because the British government offered him but 1,000 pounds sterling for the invention, flew from England to France yesterday he was pursued at the last minute by a lawyer with a writ of injunction obtained on behalf of some Englishmen who claim 52 per cent of the rights in the ray.

Mathews today denied that these countrymen of his had a contract and said their option expired a month ago.

"The latest British offers have been insufficient," he said.

"I'm going to wait until Friday noon. If no satisfactory proposition is forthcoming from my own country, I will sign a contract with a French firm at Lyons."

The French firm to which he refers, headed by one M. Royer, insists Mathews already has signed contracts providing for delivery of the diabolical ray to France.

Mathews, after interviewing Royer's representative here and learning that the British had started action in the French courts to restrain him from selling his secret in France, disappeared, ray and all. It was believed he had gone to Lyons.

The inventor's position is that the French offer is sufficient to enable him to get this and other inventions while the British offer was so small he would have to "disclose basic secrets without assurance of future compensation."

Orange county was today prepared to spend $6,000 in water conservation along the headwaters of the Santa Ana river this year, on condition, it was made known today, that Riverside and San Bernardino counties appropriate like sums.

Senator Hints Confidential Letters Taken from Department Files By Burns.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Confidential department or justice data on alleged Mexican border gun plots was removed from the department's files by William J. Burns, former director of the bureau of investigation, Senator Wheeler, Montana, charged today before the senate Daugherty committee.

Wheeler said the committee learned that several special delivery letters bearing on a "revolutionary plot" were removed from the main file room and placed in the confidential files in Burns' office but could trace them no further.

POLICE PROBE AT FULLERTON VOTED DOWN

Fullerton's city police department, stung by numerous charges and counter-charges during recent months, today was operating with the support of a majority of the city council of that community, it was learned here.

The board, at a meeting last night, and by a vote of 3 to 2, adopted a resolution rescinding the action of last week in calling for a thorough investigation of the department and extending to the police a vote of confidence in their efficiency and integrity.

This resolution, which virtually blocks any probe attempt, was introduced, it was understood, by Councilman O. M. Thompson, chairman of the police committee of the council, and was supported by Councilmen Roy Davis and W. A. Moore.

Thompson said he had conducted a personal investigation and discovered no condition that would warrant the city doubting the responsibility of the police officials.

Dr. P. C. Gilberston's term having expired, the council appointed its city health officer Dr. Henry A. Krieger, well known Fullerton physician. After voting not to merge the city health department with that of the county, the council appointed R. G. Rohrer, Mr. R. A. Barker, John Gardiner and Mrs. J. P. Glenn as members of the board of health.

Bill Calls For Appropriation of $150,000,000 to Build Ships

WILBUR JOINS IN PLEA FOR MEASURE

Eight New Cruisers and Modernization of Battleship Is Aim

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Enactment of the proposed $150,000,000, naval construction program will put the American navy in first place among the navies of the world, Representative Britten, Illinois, Republican, told the house today in opening debate on the bill.

Britten said the United States was now a ratio of "4" in a 5-4-3 lineup with Great Britain and Japan. With the program adopted, he said, the ratio would become 5-4-3 with the United States leading with five to Great Britain's four and Japan's three.

Britten declared this could be done without violation of either the letter or the spirit of the arms limitation treaty.

The program reported by the naval affairs committee provided for eight new cruisers of 10,000 tons each and the "modernization" of six first line battleships claimed to be too slow and poorly armored to maneuver with the battle fleet.

In addition to the formal program, representative Britten and Representative Vinson, Georgia, Republican and Democrat, respectively, on the committee, expected to urge elevation of guns on thirteen battleships and the construction of new airplane carriers. If these amendments are accepted by the house, the total cost of the construction program will be increased to over $200,000,000.

Opponents of a stronger navy declared the navy as it stands is as good as any other and labeled the recent agitation to build it up propaganda inspired by munitions and shipbuilding interests.

According to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, the navy now stands at "four" in a 5-4-3 ratio, instead of an equality with Great Britain in the 5-5-3 ratio authorized by the Washington conference.

CLAIMS REDS HEAD THIRD PARTY MOVE

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Senator Robert M. La Follette today declared he will have nothing to do with the so-called third party convention at St. Paul, June 17.

He urged his friends to stay away, giving as his reason, the participation in the St. Paul convention of communist organizations.

At the same time La Follette made clear that after both old party conventions have been held, unless one or both shall "purge itself of evil influences" and name truly progressive candidates, an independent presidential ticket and platform will be offered to the voters.

This is taken to indicate that at a conference of progressives of all parties in Cleveland July 4, Senator La Follette will take the field for a nation-wide fight.

Nationalists Ready to Support Marx In Launching New Cabinet

BERLIN, May 28.—Chancellor Marx has accepted the commission to reorganize a German cabinet, offered him at 5 p. m. yesterday by President Ebert, it was officially announced today.

The new cabinet may contain nationalists. Unless present plans miscarry, the latter were to accept a share in the government on a basis of approval of the experts' report. The nationalists have asked the interior, food and economic posts.

The next session of the Reichstag was expected to find many communists ejected, unless the left wing ceased its obstructionist tactics which finally caused the opening session to break up in tumult and disorder. With crowds in the galleries joining in until the pandemonium became deafening, the Reds yesterday howled down all attempts at parliamentary procedure.

BEGIN SECOND HAT STORE PROSECUTION

O. C. Hardaback and Glenn B. Church were facing their second jury today in superior court, before Judge R. Y. Williams, where their prosecution for alleged stock selling activities in the vicinity of Anaheim was renewed after one failure to produce a decision. They are charged with obtaining money under false pretense from stockholders in an Anaheim hat store.

Preliminary steps in the second court battle were taken at 10 a. m. when opposing attorneys began examining prospective jurors. The new superior court panel was on hand for its first trial.

Most of them, questioning revealed, were unfamiliar with details of the case, some of them having never heard of it, they said, while others had gained information regarding it from newspaper accounts.

Examining each juror with care, the attorneys used up the entire morning session in selecting a jury.

NEW SENATORS BLASTING OLD TRADITIONS

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Tradition and precedent—those twin bogies that used to rise forbiddingly in the pathway of new members of the senate and block their progress toward achievement and recognition in the early days of their service—are now staggering around, groggy and gasping for breath, in the Sixty-eighth congress.

A complete knockout seems not far distant. And that is a picture that brings tears to the eyes of the elders and convulsive clutches at beads grown gray in the most exclusive club in the world. Loud are the lamentations and shrill are the protests.

Time was, and not far distant either, when a new senator was purely an ornament around the capitol for the first few years of his service. New senators, like college freshmen, were to be seen and not heard, and infractions of this rule were met with a hazing from the old 'uns that was as rigorous and effective as that of any fresh-water college.

Beveridge An Example
There is still recalled, with evident relish by the veterans of the senate, the hazing that was administered to a young senator from Indiana some years ago—one Albert J. Beveridge, who, being young, had come to Washington filled with ambition, fire and a zeal for public service. He was impatient under the many restraints imposed upon a new member by the elders then in the saddle.

Beveridge had one subject with which he was particularly familiar—the Philippines. He had made a somewhat extensive study of conditions there and felt himself equipped to talk about it. He rose in the senate one day when a piece of Philippine legislation was pending and delivered himself of a speech that stands even today as one of the finest ever heard on the subject.

Before he had been speaking ten minutes the leaders got up and left the floor. Others followed, and then still others, and finally the burning young solon from Indiana found himself addressing a lot of empty seats and a handful of people in the galleries. It was the upper classmen hazing a freshman. Beveridge turned brick-red. He stuck it out, but the scars of that hazing remained until the end of his service.

Times Have Changed
Those days are gone—whether forever remains to be seen. The United States senate today is being run, at least from the spotlight standpoint, by a number of senatorial freshmen who, stubbornly refuse to abide by any hoary tradition or precedent. They are getting away with it in surprising fashion.

There is Senator Burton Kendall Wheeler, for instance. His name stands at the bottom of the service list in the senate. A senatorial fledgling not yet a year old—and he has turned the senate topsy-turvy—is conducting what is perhaps the most sensational senatorial investigation ever held, and talks when he feels like it, on the floor or off.

When the Daugherty investigation was being considered Wheeler boldly demanded the right to pick the committee and he did it. Whether the Republican leaders were paralyzed by the sheer boldness of it and thus didn't stop him, probably never will be known. At any rate, he got away with it.

Then there is Senator James Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, another newcomer. Couzens is belated in many respects. He was in business with Henry Ford for years, acquired wealth and executive experience and is used to doing things directly, without consulting tradition and precedent.

Timorous Freshman
Senator Couzens picked a fight with Andrew W. Mellon some time ago, and for weeks their epistolary

Convict Man of Plot to Murder Wife With Bomb

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—Found guilty of plotting to kill his wife with dynamite, Joseph J. Lanzit will be sentenced tomorrow, following his conviction late yesterday. The crime carries a sentence of from six months to 20 years.

warfare over who paid the most income taxes—they were two of the richest men in the country—interested and amused the public. Finally Couzens started an investigation of Mellon's department, aiming at the bureau of internal revenue which collects the taxes. He is on the committee and is its chief "prosecutor." He talks, too, when he has something to say on the floor or off.

Then there is Smith Wildman Brookhart, Republican, of Iowa. He came to Washington prepared to tell congress and the country plenty and he has been doing it ever since. He has been active in every sort of agricultural legislation, has fought the administration whenever it displeased him, which was generally, and he has told the world at every opportunity that the country is going to perdition in a huck unless it does something for the farmers of the west, who produce the food.

JAPAN TO FILE PROTEST OVER BAN BY U. S.

(By United Press Leased Wire)
TOKIO, May 28.—The cabinet today decided to instruct Ambassador Dor Hanihara in Washington to lodge a "solemn protest" with the United States government because of adoption of the immigration law with the Japanese exclusion clause.

Simultaneously, the foreign office issued a statement reviewing provisions of the exclusion clause and deeply regretting its passage "despite Japan's protestations."

Seven of Tokyo's thirteen newspapers commented on the immigration legislation in comparatively composed and moderate tones. With few exceptions all had accepted the President's signature as a foregone conclusion.

The Jiji says "we must patiently wait for Americans calmly to reconsider their action."

The Nichi Nichi: "Japan should take positive steps."

The Yomiuri: "The first stage of Anti-Japanism is completed. It may be repeated twice or thrice."

URGE DAWES AS RUNNING MATE OF COOLIDGE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, May 28.—Charles G. Dawes for vice president—both to put pep into the campaign and to insure a forceful personality as presiding officer of the senate if the G. O. P. is returned to power—is coming in for strong support among Eastern business leaders.

Now that the administration has decided definitely to go West for a running mate for President Coolidge, there is more talk of Dawes in political circles than of any other potential candidate. Senator Borah, with whom administration leaders have flirted for some time, isn't even going to the convention, it seems, and besides has intimates he didn't court second place on the ticket.

Boom Governor Hyde
As a result a rather study boom has developed to put Governor Hyde of Missouri, a doubtful state, alongside Coolidge and talk of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois has not subsided.

But the feeling of Republican leaders about Dawes is this: Since Coolidge will go out into the country for very few speeches during the campaign, there is a crying need for someone with personality, a reputation and tremendous energy to go out and shake down votes. Dawes has all of these attributes. Furthermore there is every reason to believe that if Coolidge is reelected there will still be a division of interests in the senate that may make the situation there worse confounded than it is now.

In that event, a presiding officer of Dawes' character would be of tremendous assistance to the President. He would be capable of establishing a closer liaison between the White House and the senate than has existed to date. Also his own personal ability in matters of business and finance would be likely to find him personally participating in the party councils over proposed legislation affecting the nation's economic situation.

Dawes, questioned recently as to his availability as a running mate for Coolidge, jokingly replied: "I've had enough feathers pinned on me. I don't want any more."

Nevertheless there are many of his friends in the business world who are anxious to have him nominated for his dual effect upon the campaign and upon congress.

bank and treasurer of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., has returned to his duties after being confined in his home on account of illness for the past several months.

The East Liverpool, Ohio, picnic, attended annually by many Orange county persons, will be held at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, Saturday, June 7, instead of May 31, according to word which was received here today from persons in Los Angeles who have the affair in charge.

The La Habra Domestic Water company has applied to the railroad commission for authority to increase its rates, alleging that the present rates are insufficient to yield an adequate return on the fair value of its properties, according to word received here today.

More than twenty-five chess and checker players were present at the weekly meeting of the Chess and Checker club of the Y.M.C.A.

was made permanent by the election of officers who will serve for one year. President A. E. Collins; vice president, LeRoy Hall; secretary, Philip Taylor; treasurer, H.
M. Lister. The organization, as per-

Weekly meetings of the club will be held on Tuesday night, and an invitation was issued to the public to witness the games of the club.

Members of Y. M. C. A. camp committees from all towns in the county which expect to send boys to the "Y" camp this summer will go in a caravan to the camp site in the San Bernardino mountains tomorrow for the week-end, to build a road from the Big Meadows road to the camp, according to an announcement made here today. In the Santa Ana delegation will be Phil Norton, George Chessum, T.
P. McKee, Bert Zaiser and Allen
Turner. Members of the other committees will meet the Santa Ana committee at the camp, and work will be done on the road, Friday and Saturday.

Deputy District Attorney D. G.
Wettlin was back in his office today following a week's severe illness at his home at Orange.

Orville Heaton, secretary of the Orange County Motorcycle club, will be the only representative of the club attending the gathering of the motorcycle club at Pismo Beach Saturday. It was announced here today, following a meeting of the club last night. The local club has completed plans for a run Sunday to Glenn Ivy. It was expected that twenty-five riders would meet at the plaza, Orange, at 9 a. m., for the coming semester. The new

BELIEVE THROG TO HEAR S. A. ORCHESTRA

Because numerous Santa Anans are interested in the organization for its own sake and also because its concert will be the first public entertainment to be given in the new Ebell clubhouse here, a large attendance is expected to hear the program of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra there tomorrow night.

Since Conductor D. C. Cianfoni's ability was demonstrated when the Santa Ana Municipal band gave its first concert at the high school auditorium recently, all doubt as to the extent of his achievements in making a finished organization out of the symphony orchestra has been dispelled, leading musicians

GROVE MAN TO HEAD ORIENTAL PROBE BODY

J. A. Knapp of Garden Grove was elected chairman of the Orange County Oriental survey committee last night at a meeting of the committee held in the offices of the Orange county farm bureau here, at which time it became known today, plans for the work to be done in this county were made.
The committee met with Prof.
William C. Smith, teacher of so-ciology at the University of Southern California, who is one of the leaders in the survey for the Southern part of the state. Prof.
Smith assisted in the organization of the committee and suggested steps to be taken in securing the desired data for the survey.

The local committee will endeavor to secure information of specific cases in Orange county from old settlers who have been personally connected with Orientals. Several interesting cases were discussed last night. It was reported by Knapp that there was a case at Garden Grove at this time in which several Japanese were in the employ of Philipinos, where several months previous the case was reversed, the island men working for the Japanese.

Plans as outlined for work in this county by the committee are classification of Orientals, locating sections where Orientals are living, locating persons who know conditions in these sections, appointing persons to make surveys in these territories and collecting data.

Members of the county committee present last night were Knapp, Mrs. S. W. Stanley, H. G. Nelson,
the Rev. W. A. Betts, C. A. Wise,
H. E. Wahlberg and A. M. Stanley.

ATOM WEIGHED AND ANALYZED BY SCIENTIST

PARIS, May 28.—The analysis of the atom, for which scientists have been searching for years, has been finally achieved, according to an announcement by Prof. Camille Matignon to the Society of Industrial Chemistry.

Although the carbonic atom weighs a billionth of a billionth of one-hundredth of a milligram and is one ten-billionth of the size of the smallest object perceivable through a microscope, Matignon showed how it was possible not to weigh it, but to analyze its constituents by a process of "ionizing."

Through this process the atoms are charged with electricity which accelerates the speed at which they revolve about the molecules, thereby permitting an analysis of comparative calculations of their speed with respect to their weight.

dor hotel in Los Angeles on Friday, May 23. The delightful luncheon served in the Fiesta room was preceded by a reception hour and followed by a program of entraining interest and pleasure.

Music comprised part of the program and featured several songs composed by Gertrude Ross who gave a brief interpretative announcement before each number and played the accompaniments for the singer. Mrs. Ross had chosen Mrs. Frank McGinnis to sing her songs and the audience was content to accept her verdict that no singer in Los Angeles is gifted with a voice more lovely. Particularly suited to inis a portion of "The Vision of Mrs. Ross and sung for the first Birthday Celebration Is Double Event In Marsile Family

A happy affair of recent date was the celebration of an eightieth birthday when A. F. Marsile was honored at the home of his son, Fred Marsile on East

Seventeenth street. At the same time, Mr. and Mrs. Marsile honored the birthday anniversary of Mrs. C. H. Jackson, the double event having long been recognized in the family.

A delicious noon-day dinner was enjoyed at a table brightened with masses of sweet peas and the final course offered a beautiful white birthday cake.

hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsile, the special honor guest, Mr.
A. F. Marsile, the second birthday honoree, Mrs. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marsile and baby son, Raymond Jr., and Mrs.
Viola Flips.

Mrs. Jackson will leave next week for Los Angeles to join Mr.
Jackson whose work keeps him in that city. They have rented their home at 216 Halliday street.

Four candidates were initiated at Monday night's session of the Royal Neighbors held in M. W.

Mrs. Gross of Greeley, Colorado.
The Overland car won in the evening's attendance race, with ten miles to its credit. In the membership contest held recently with Laguna Beach, the latter was declared victor and will be entertained at a banquet by the losing local lodge on the night of June 23.

Gibson Girls Picnic
With Families at County Park

Orange county park rang with laughter and merriment last night when the famous Gibson girls of the City P-T-A's successful "Days of '99 Revue" gathered to gather their favorite dishes, their better halves and their rollicking youngsters and joined in a great picnic.

Each Gibson girl proved her culinary skill by adding her favorite dish to the pot-luck menu with the resultant supper one to make an epicure gaze with envy.
The delectable dishes were arranged on long tables garlanded with trailing vines and myriads of pink blossoms, and with a flag proudly floating at either end.
Sandwiches were there in abundant quantities to accompany the dainties and hot coffee was served by a committee.

To avoid the formality of inroductions, each person wore a paper bearing his or her name so friendships were soon established.

One of the outstanding features was the presentation of a handsome birthday cake to Mrs.
Everett White, who gracefully acknowledged the correctness of sixteen candles and cutting it, divided with all present.

Following the supper, dancing and lively stunts were enjoyed at the pavilion. The Gibson girls presented the act which gave so much pleasure at the revue and Mrs. Harry Liepsic repeated her famous song and dance number,
"Aunt that a Shame" Mrs. Ralph Adams, accompanist at the revue, was at the piano again but was occasionally relieved by Mrs.

82 Years Old and As Good As a Youngster

"7 or 8 years ago I was a very sick man. Doctors said catarrh trouble of stomach and bowels, affecting the liver and heart. For more than a year I wanted to die, but could not. Upon the advice of a friend I tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and although 82 years old I now feel as good as a youngster." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the inflammatory tract and allows the intestinal stomach, liver and intestinal movements, including appendicitis.

meets every taste in

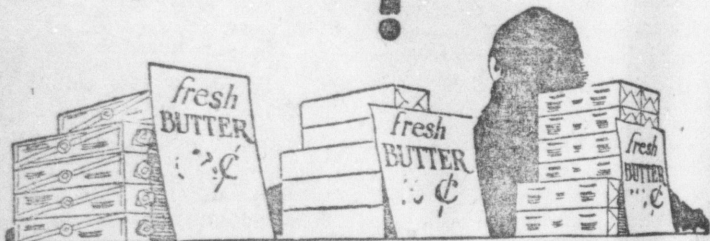

Coffee

How do you like your coffee? Strong? Mild? In-between? MJB is sure to give you coffee-contentment because MJB meets every taste in coffee. Make the test and see!

After all, don't you get just about what you pay for?

Careful buying pays! There's no doubt about it!

But no matter how careful you are, you can't get Sterling silver at plated-silver prices—and you can't get butter that is dependable in purity and quality at the same price as unknown, undesirable or even "fairly good" brands.

Butter is too important a food to "take a chance" on. Be sure of satisfaction—insist upon Golden State!

Modern creameries located in the heart of the best dairying districts; careful selection and pasteurization of cream; improved churning and packing methods; strict purity tests;

—these are the things that make Golden State, "high score" butter.

—these are the things that make it more than worth the slight premium you have to pay.

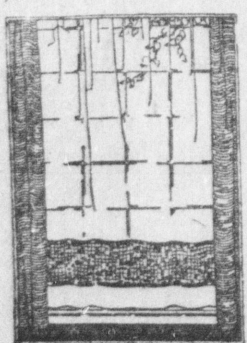

Isn't it false economy to buy a cheaper brand?

Golden State BUTTER

★ The "score" is the expert's gauge of butter quality. It is a fact that Golden State averages from 1 to 5 points higher than other Southern California brands.

WOMEN OF AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY TO SELL 3000 POPPIES HERE TOMORROW

There are many disabled veterans of the World war who are not receiving any compensation from the government, it was today stated by Mrs. L. R. Crawford, chairman of the Poppy day committee, under whose leadership women of the American Legion Auxiliary will raise funds through the sale of poppies on the streets of Santa Ana tomorrow.

"We have 3000 poppies to dispose of in Santa Ana," Mrs. Crawford added, "There is no set price, but everyone who buys a poppy may pay whatever he feels able to give. The entire amount that is received through the sale of the poppies will be delivered to the disabled veterans, many of whom are in dire need of financial assistance."

The sale of the poppies will be conducted on the order of a tag day. There will be thirty women in the business section of the city to assist. I think that the people of this city will give to the limit in a cause of this kind and I have faith in the belief that Santa Ana folk have not forgotten the boys who gave their best in the World war. There should be no difficulty in disposing of the 3000 poppies and in raising quite a substantial sum to aid in alleviating the distress of the disabled boys."

Mrs. Crawford announced that the sale would begin at 9 a. m. and would continue throughout the day until the poppies are disposed of.

Miss Mary Goudy, member of the American Legion Auxiliary selling W. F. Heathman, city recorder, a poppy, the proceeds of which sales goes to the relief fund of the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

COUNTIES SEEK TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL SITE

Having reported developments to date, committeemen from the Orange county board of supervisors today were preparing to proceed with officials of Riverside and Imperial counties in perfecting plans for a tri-county tuberculosis sanitarium.

Supervisor Leon Whittell and William Schumacher late yesterday reported to the board the results of a conference held at Riverside several days ago, when the recently-conceived plan for a tri-county institution was endorsed by all of the three counties, who agreed to participate in the project on a population basis, founded on the totals of the last registration in each county.

Selection of a site for the proposed sanitarium is the next step of importance, the committee stated. Several sites were inspected at the recent conference, but no definite choice has been made. It has been agreed that the site shall be in Riverside county and the Riverside committee, it was stated, has been authorized to investigate the prospects of finding a suitable location in the Banning-Beaumont district.

Reports on sites, a more detailed discussion of plans and specifications for a sanitarium, and finance questions, it was reported, are scheduled for consideration at the next conference of committees.

At present, according to the local committee, the plans are still in an embryo state. A thirty-five-bed sanitarium for the treatment particularly of incipient cases, is the general idea which has yet to be worked out with reference to details. The committee estimates that the cost will probably not exceed $30,000, which sum will be shared by the three counties in proportion to population as estimated from registration figures.

Present negotiations, it was made clear, are of an entirely preliminary nature, as the counties will be unable to take any actual steps until after the beginning of the next fiscal year, in July. Work on the erection of a sanitarium, it was stated, may not be undertaken before the first of the next calendar year, 1925.

According to the local committee, the conferees are at present agreed on the idea of securing a site in some rural region, including enough acreage to make the institution self sustaining.

Name Committees For Booster Body

With efforts being directed to transforming Bristol street into a main artery of Santa Ana, by continuing the thoroughfare north to Chapman avenue and south to the ocean, the recently organized West-Northwest Improvement and Development association today had taken steps toward improving the city.

At a meeting of officers held yesterday at the Colonial club, President L. E. Martin appointed the following committees:

Goodwill—W. C. Childers, chairman, J. W. Estes Jr., Benjamin Walker, General affairs—E. A. White, chairman, F. L. Veatch, W. H. English, Merle Ramsey, W. C. Childers, L. H. Brooks, W. V. Whitson, Publicity—Floyd Croddy, chairman, E. A. White.

A meeting of the entire organization will be held at the council chamber in the city hall Tuesday, June 10.

BRANDS REPORT OFFICER FLED AS FALSE

City Marshal Arthur Eells of Fullerton today branded as utterly ridiculous the report emanating from Fullerton and printed in The Register Monday, to the effect that a man named Joseph Carrisosa there had "floored" Police Officer Jacob Diest and that simultaneously another officer, George Annin, disappeared down the street.

"The story was set in motion by certain elements seeking to discredit members of the police force of Fullerton," Eells declared.

"In the first place Officer Annin was not on duty at the time the episode is asserted to have occurred, 6 a. m., Monday. His hours are from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m."

"In the second place, I doubt very much whether the man supposed to have done the 'flooding' ever made such a report to the Fullerton reporter in question."

"According to what I have ascertained from Officer Diest, all that occurred was that when he saw Carrisosa driving at what he considered too rapid a rate of speed, he followed him in his own car, cautioned him to drive more slowly, and the episode was at an end."

Officer Annin is well known at Fullerton, and his friends are united in declaring him to be a man of nerve and a good officer.

SECOND HARBOR HIGHWAY BIDS CALLED FOR

Preparing today for opening June 10 bids for paving two miles of Fairview avenue, the board of supervisors had initiated steps for a small paving program that will make available to Santa Ana and other sections of Orange county a second completely-paved avenue to Costa Mesa and Newport Beach.

The supervisors yesterday granted a petition of property owners for the creation of an assessment district for the improvement and directed the county clerk to advertise for bids for the work.

The two miles of highway to be constructed will connect the present county highway at Fairview with the boulevard to Newport Beach, the junction being made at Costa Mesa.

Concrete construction will be put down, the pavement to be eighteen feet wide, seven inches thick in the center and nine inches on the edges.

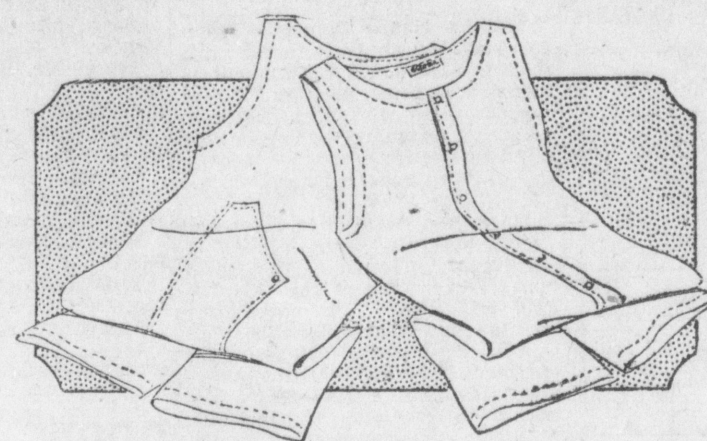

When completed, the new work will form a part of the contemplated truck highway from the south end of Spadra avenue, Fullerton, to Costa Mesa—a project, which, it is estimated, will cost $1,000,000.

According to J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways, pouring of concrete was in progress today on the county highway extending east and west on the north side of the county hospital. Three miles of building is underway. Pouring of concrete will be completed in about thirty days, McBride announced, making final opening of the whole thoroughfare possible in approximately sixty days.

The highway under improvement extends from the state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim, and the boulevard between Garden Grove and Anaheim.

Year after year until time mellows with hoary age Memorial Day ever will recall sweet, sad and tender anguish memories and thoughts of yesteryears—of those dear and loved who fell on the field of strife; who preserved for posterity, that civilization might not be forgotten.

Ever mindful of those great sacrifices and that in our small way we may give what little homage to the heroic dead that is within our limited power, our store will remain closed all day Friday—Memorial Day—opening again for business on Saturday morning.

Gold Room Serves As Artistic Setting For Bridge Tea

A delightful affair of recent date, presided over by one young matron and honoring a second, was the bridge tea which Mrs. John Cannon presented at Ketter's gold room complementing Mrs. Charles Givens.

The charming summer frocks of the guests, combined with vivid floral decorations of the gold room, made it a most colorful scene as all found places around the tables arranged for bridge, seven in number.

At the opposite side of the room were the tea tables laden with flowers in pastel tints, arranged artistically in baskets. The May basket idea was repeated in the faces of the tea menu, which were individual were baskets filled with pastel-tinted posies. Cakes tied to harmonize, coffee and mint completed the refreshment dainties.

Bridge honors went to Miss Marjorie Ellis, scoring high, Mrs. Don L. Andrews, second high and Mrs. Harold Yost, low. In her hostess duties, Mrs. Cannon was assisted by Mrs. George Parker, Mrs. Amelia Peckham and Miss Marjorie Ellis who with the honor guest, Mrs. Givens, and the hostess, formed the receiving line.

I. O. O. F.

The local I. O. O. F. hall was the scene of a pleasant gathering recently when C. A. Palmer, newly elected grand warden of the I. O. O. F. lodge of California, was honored by his home order of Orange with a reception.

With Odd Fellows from all over the county gathering to honor the new grand warden, the Orange lodge rooms were deemed too small so the local Odd Fellows proffered their spacious quarters. Seven lodges, Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, Westminster and Huntington Beach joined in the event, each sending a large delegation.

W. D. Peterkin of Orange presided, and an interesting program offered vocal solos by Mrs. W. J. Llewellyn of Anaheim and W. A. Whiles of Orange, Spanish song, by Miss Tony Friend, Los Angeles; dancing, Miss Eleanor Heitshusen, Orange; piano numbers, Miss Carita Forman, Santa Ana; banjo numbers, Joe Kozina, Orange, accompanied by W. Denny, Fullerton.

Entering the auditorium for the reception, Mr. Palmer was escorted by the Canton team in full regalia. A short review of his work was given by Conrad Mauterhan of Anaheim, district deputy grand master. Another tribute to him and his record in Odd Fellowship was paid by Charles Frost, noble grand of Orange lodge when, on behalf of District No. 69, he presented the new grand warden with a handsome gold watch bearing the three link insignia of the order and suitably engraved.

Mr. Palmer made a brief response thanking his fellow lodge men for the honors bestowed on him. Dancing to music by Llewellyn's orchestra, completed the happy evening.

After the lapse of two years, Mr. Palmer will be grand master, the highest office in the Odd Fellow ranks of the state.

Flowers Sought For Memorial Day

As Memorial day draws near, bringing with its beautiful significance, the need for quantities of blossoms, an appeal has gone out from the W. R. C. women, for flowers to form into bouquets to deck the graves of veterans in Fairhaven cemetery.

All persons having flowers are asked to make children their messengers and send the blossoms to the schools Thursday morning by the little people. Relief Corps women will make the rounds of the schools early in the forenoon and collect the blossoms which will then be taken to Birch park.

There W. R. C. members and Daughters of Veterans will form the bouquets in readiness for Friday's exercises.

Generous givers of flowers are asked to include as much greenery as they can spare, also to cut the flowers with as long stems as possible.

It was announced that the school had greeted over 600 visitors this year.

Election of officers offered an innovation by the nominating committee who announced two candi-

Representatives of the committee are in direct touch with prominent motion picture companies in Los Angeles and expect to announce in the next few days, it was added, the names of the prominent motion picture actresses who will participate. The parade will cover the entire Newport Beach district, starting at Balboa, and will include East Newport and Newport in the parade line.

Special cars will be operated by the Pacific Electric railway company to accommodate the large number of visitors who have signified their intention to attend.

Volta 110

Powder Placed in Shoes Brings Quick Relief From Rheumatic Pain

"God Bless The Man Who Discovered The Healer," Writes Grateful User.

Thousands of former rheumatic sufferers are now praising Alessandro Volta, the well-known Italian physicist (for whom the electric volt was named) and his discovery which has called Volta. Volta is a scientific combination of certain ingredients which its discoverer has compounded into a fine powder. This powder is not taken internally, but is shaken into the shoes, from which it is intended to be absorbed into the blood stream through the myriad pores of the feet. This absorption is due, no doubt, to the fact that the feet contain 10 times as many pores to the square inch as are found in any other part of the body. The secret of Volta powder to relieve rheumatic pain so quickly is due to its tendency to eliminate excess uric acid which poisons the system (through the blood) and thus causes the tortures of Rheumatism. The use of Volta powder has demonstrated such astonishing results in literally thousands of cases, many of which were considered hopeless, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta to rheumatic sufferers in this city with an unqualified guarantee to return the full purchase price on the first box in any rare case where the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved. All who suffer from rheumatic pains, no matter how long-standing their cases may be, should take immediate advantage of this liberal offer. You can get Volta Powder from all good druggists everywhere.

SUSPECT 'CAT' THIEF AS MAN FOILS RAIDER

Holding to the average of a burglary a day in Santa Ana, a thief, possibly the so-called "cat burglar" made an attempt to ransack the home of E. S. Brown at 327 Halesworth street at midnight, but was interrupted by Brown, who in turn was awakened by the intruder.

Hearing a noise in an adjoining room, Brown left his bed to investigate, and stumbled over a suit of clothes belonging to his son, the clothes having been thrown into the doorway by the burglar who had searched the pockets.

The thief, however, heard approaching footsteps, so he leaped through an open window, crawled under some bushes in Brown's yard and disappeared into the darkness. No loot was taken.

Officer Earl Lentz, who investigated the incident, found fresh footprints in the soil beneath the open window.

Mrs. Brown told the officers that yesterday afternoon she had noticed a young man who apparently was "sizing up" the residence. She described him as being about 22 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds and dressed in a neat gray suit and wore a stiff straw hat. He stood very erect and walked with a quick step. His hair appeared dark.

Mrs. Brown's description of the man is an exact duplicate of the description of the person seen to have left the home of Sam Hurwitz Sunday afternoon, when it was robbed, and that of the burglar who ransacked the home of District Attorney A. P. Nelson last Friday, according to the police. The description of the man's clothing also tallies with that of the Hurwitz burglar, except he wore a felt hat "mashed round" at the crown when he left the Hurwitz house.

G. A. R. VETERAN URGES TOT'S BRING FLOWERS TO SCHOOL TOMORROW FOR DISTRIBUTION

With members of various patriotic organizations preparing to decorate Friday the 30th or more graves of soldiers, sailors, and marines in the Santa Ana and Fairhaven cemeteries, G. P. Lawrence, commander of Sedgwick Post No. 17, G. A. R., today made final appeal to children to bring to their respective schools, tomorrow, flowers suitable for distribution.

At the same time the commander reminded the children and the school authorities that the contributions would be gathered at 10 a. m., for delivery at G. A. R. hall, where many women will be present to form the flowers into bouquets for convenient distribution by soldiers Friday morning.

Under the direction of Gordon Granger post, Orange, the placing of flowers on the graves will begin at 9 a. m., Lawrence said, in emphasis of the fact that the decorations will be placed prior to the holding of the usual exercises at the monument to the unknown dead.

Other Plans Made

The funeral committee, headed by Dr. H. MacVicker Smith, of Santa Ana post No. 131, American Legion, and members of the post auxiliary will have charge of decorating graves of World War veterans. Dr. Smith said that delivery of flowers to the armory on Birch street before 8:30 a. m. Friday would be greatly appreciated by the post and auxiliary. Women of the auxiliary will arrange the flowers in bouquets. Calumet camp No. 25, United Spanish War Veterans, and the auxiliary will meet at the cemetery at 9 a. m. Memorial day, and then will mark the graves of all Spanish-American war veterans with suitable permanent markers, and the women will decorate the graves with flowers. After the service at Fairhaven cemetery members of both the camp and auxiliary will go to Newport, there to honor the departed sailors by casting flowers upon the waters.

J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, revealed that plans had been completed for proper observance tomorrow of Decoration day. Musical programs, flag raising exercises and speeches appropriate to the occasion are scheduled for all the schools, which will be closed Friday.

Memorial day exercises will begin in the elementary schools at 11:30 a. m., tomorrow, and will continue for half an hour, according to Cranston, while exercises at the high school and junior college will begin at 9:45 a. m. The public is being invited to these programs. A musical program given at the high school will be followed by an address to be made by Elmer T. Worthy. He will show slides of war scenes.

Freeman H. Bloodgood, Santa Ana realtor, will deliver the memorial address at exercises to be held at Birch park at 2 p. m. Friday. Members of the G. A. R. and affiliated bodies will gather at G. A. R. hall in time to leave there at 1:30 p. m. and march to the park.

The afternoon program will be presented as follows: Prayer by H. E. Smith, chaplain.

Address of welcome, George Huntington, adjutant.

Singing of "America" by audience, led by Mrs. E. A. Chapman.

LUTHERANS OF STATE HONOR S. A. PASTOR

The Rev. G. F. Pauschert, pastor of the St. Peter Lutheran church here, today had returned from Los Angeles, where he attended the California district synod of the church and where he was honored by his fellow ministers when he was elected president of the synod organization. Joseph Krook, 1601 West Fifth street, was elected lay delegate to the synod.

As president of the district, the Rev. Mr. Pauschert is expected to attend a meeting of the general synod at Pittsburg, in August. The Rev. William Lange of Long Beach will go East also, as district delegate, the local pastor declared.

The synod, which closed its sessions yesterday, met at the Mt. Calvary Lutheran church.

Other officers elected, beside the Rev. Mr. Pauschert, were the Rev. C. W. Wolter of Fresno, vice-president; the Rev. W. Lembo of Los Angeles, treasurer, and the Rev. W. Kohberger of Los Angeles, secretary.

MISSING GIRL, 13, WRITES OF PLIGHT

The sad story of a young girl who misplaced confidence was the subject of discussion today at police headquarters.

With her health broken, her body beaten and her dreams of life shattered, 13-year-old Anastacia Chiras of 1010½ Lincoln street, who has been missing for nearly two months, today had sent word to her father here that she was alone, friendless and helpless, near Los Angeles, according to local authorities.

On April 5 the girl secured part of her week's wages from Israel Frank, local shoe store proprietor, and failed to return after lunch. Juan Chiras, her father, enlisted the police of several cities to aid in the search for his missing child. He feared dire consequences, police declared.

The message received by Chiras, according to the officers here, stated that Anastacia had run away with Arturo Encinas, 25, who beat her and in other ways mistreated her, she said, and who finally left her penniless and helplessly in a strange community.

100 OF CHAMBERS MEMBERS TO MEET

With discussion of development of industries for Orange county scheduled as a big feature of the program, approximately one hundred boosters of the county were expected to attend the Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting to be held at 6:30 p. m., today, at the women's clubhouse at Yorba Linda.

The Rev. Walter L. Thornton, pastor of the First Christian church at Fullerton, will lead the discussion. The Rev. Mr. Thornton has made a study of Orange county conditions and is said to be well qualified to present in a forceful way some of the many advantages offered for industrial enterprises.

A representative of the Greater Los Angeles association is scheduled to be present and outline briefly the plans of the association.

Port Committee Of Fifty Groups Report Progress

Sub-committees to work out problems concerning ways and means, land and engineering already have met, and the groups considering shipping and legislation are expected to present recommendations to the committee this week.

Attorney Denies Fraud Allegation

Said to be preparing to defend himself against a civil action filed in Los Angeles superior court, Attorney Morgan Marmaduke of Los Angeles today formally denied charges made by Leonard Sanders, now awaiting trial on a manslaughter charge, that Marmaduke had made false representations to him in order to gain employment as Sanders' attorney.

Sanders said he canceled a note and mortgage given to Marmaduke in lieu of a $2500 fee. He charged that Marmaduke had approached him in the Los Angeles county jail and guaranteed to obtain probation for him if retained as defense counsel.

CITRUS FRUITS OF CAL. BEST SAYS BANKER OF GOTHAM

Study of Markets Proves Western Products Are Preferred, Claim

DEMAND IS GROWING

Consumption Increase Due To Improvements Made By Industry Men

The California orange is the favorite fruit of connoisseurs of New York City, according to Charles F. Junod, of the Bank of America, who has just completed a study of the New York market for citrus fruits and a statement of whose findings has been received here.

"Since the consumption of California oranges exceeds that of Florida oranges by 40 per cent it may be concluded that the New Yorkers like California oranges better than any other fruit on earth," says the banker in writing his observation of the markets in New York.

"The annual consumption of oranges in the city of New York is estimated at 241,627,500 pounds and is steadily increasing, with the orange already ranking as the favorite fruit of the metropolis," he added.

The growth of the metropolitan market for oranges is shown by the fact that in 1922 the receipts in New York were 8051 carloads as against 12,153 cars in 1923, Junod said, adding that the average price per box in 1922 was $2.47, or only eight cents higher than in 1915.

Improvements Credited

He said that the growth of the metropolitan market is partly due to the popular appreciation of the importance of oranges in a healthful diet, and credit for the growth is mostly due to improvements which have been instituted by growers and shippers of growers. "The change that has come can best be summed up as standardization," Junod said. "In the case of a natural product, this is necessarily more difficult of attainment than with a manufactured article, but with most fruits a remarkably high degree of standardization has been reached through proper care and pruning of trees, prompt collection and shipment of fruit, careful and impartial grading, better marketing methods, the use of suitable containers, the employment of refrigerator cars at appropriate seasons, etc."

"In this way both the production and distribution of fruit has

BUREAU NOTES

Dr. L. D. Bachellor of the citrus experiment station at Riverside and A. R. La Rue of the field department of the Walnut Growers' association were in Orange county yesterday. They established an irrigation plot for moisture observation.

A survey of the persimmon status of the county is being made by Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg of Orange county and Knowles Ryerson, farm advisor of Los Angeles county, according to an announcement made today.

The program committee of the Orange County Citrus Institute was to meet today at 1:30 p. m. at the Pomona Y. M. C. A., for the purpose of selecting a site for the annual institute and to perfect the program for the meeting. Dates for the convention will also be arranged.

Members of the Orange county farm bureau will be present at a meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county to be held at Yorba Linda next week. The meeting is being held for the purpose of planning an agricultural survey for Orange county.

Dr. A. W. Sampson, range specialist from the University of Southern California was in the county this week where he inspected plots recently created. The purpose of the plots is for the identification of species of forest plants and for observation to determine which are better adapted to Orange county soil.

Twenty members of the Yorba Linda farm center heard an address delivered this past week by Mrs. J. R. Gladwin on "Johnnie and Johnnie's Father." The occasion was the monthly meeting of the center.

The schedule of farm bureau center meetings for the month of May in Orange county were completed early this month, the final meeting being held at Yorba Linda, May 21.

The monthly meeting of the directors of the Orange county farm bureau will be held June 5. The directors will plan activities pertaining to agricultural education in the county schools, among other things.

Dr. H. S. Fawcett of Riverside will be in Santa Ana the latter part of this week to work with local farm bureau officials in the prevention of a spread of a new bark disease recently discovered among lemon trees.

J. L. Weimer, pathologist with the United States department of agriculture will be in the county this week to establish further test-plots of sweet potatoes in the Newhope district, west of Santa Ana.

J. A. Smiley, president of the Orange county farm bureau is at Lodi, where he is representing the Orange County Mutual Fire Insurance company at a meeting of fire underwriters.

Slides illustrating the bee industry have been secured from the agricultural extension department of the University of California and will be shown to all farm bureau centers in the county, according to an announcement today by A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the local farm bureau.

POULTRY TESTS TO BEGIN NEXT MONTH

For the purpose of building up a strain in poultry in Orange county, tests at poultry ranches throughout the county will be begun the second week in June, according to an announcement made today by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

"There are 300,000 chickens in Orange county," stated Cory, "and we will make an effort to build up stock grades here that should in every way boost the industry in this county."

According to the plans that have been outlined for the tests, ten hens will be placed with one cock in a number of poultry ranches. Close records will be kept of the tests from the time of mating until the new chickens are several months old, after which experts will determine the highest grades and ranchers over the county will be told of the results.

CALL OFF FAIR PREPARATIONS DEFINITELY

The annual Orange county fair will not be held this year.

This definite announcement, made today by A. M. Stanley, manager of the Orange County Fair association, followed a meeting held recently by the directors at which it was decided to abandon the fair for this year on the assumption that stockmen would be reluctant in exhibiting their prize winning stock this fall, even though the foot and mouth disease is virtually under control at this time.

"It is a step in the interest of safety, even though hardly regarded as necessary and shows how California is safeguarding the national interests in every conceivable way," Stanley said.

EXTOL SUCCESS OF LOCAL MAN WITH GROVE

Magazine Writer Declares Carl Klatt One of Best Southland Growers

Carl J. Klatt, a citrus grower in Santa Ana for the past fourteen years, is cited in the June issue of The California Citigraph, published at Los Angeles, as one of the most successful of the many successful growers in the Southland.

The experience of the Santa Ana man in citrus culture is featured under the caption "Those Who Have Achieved Success in the Citrus Industry." The article follows:

"Prompted by the desire to see and enjoy the far-famed climate of California for himself, Carl J. Klatt, now of Santa Ana, sold his baggage left the east to spend the winter on the coast. That was some fourteen years ago and he is still here, a firmly established and most successful orange grower.

Saw Possibilities

"Like many others who come to visit but who remain to make their homes, Klatt had little or no intention of staying, let alone risking all his worldly possessions in an industry with which he had no acquaintance. But after arriving in Southern California, young Klatt saw the tremendous possibilities afforded by the country and invested his entire capital in 20 acres of clear land near Santa Ana.

"At first he didn't know what to do. He thought he knew too little to attempt growing oranges so he decided to enter the poultry raising business. However, he became acquainted with several citrus men in the Whittier district, and with Dr. H. P. Wilson visited the Lefingwell property quite often. These men urged him to buy citrus property but as land at Whittier was then so high he went to Santa Ana and purchased the property mentioned.

"This land was not what he wanted. But because of his limited resources he had little choice in the matter. He planted the entire 20 acres in oranges and lemons. Klatt knew nothing of citrus raising. By dint of his own perseverance and industry and the help of two kindly neighbors, C. E. Utt and Sherman Stevens, who were, then planting the Lemon Heights district, and who had taken more than a passing interest in the young man, he graded the land and set it all to year-old trees. Mr. Klatt bought the buds, which were of selected stock, from Sargent's nursery at La Habra. These trees later proved that the buds were of a high class variety.

Sought Young Valencia

"In the year he held that 20-acre tract Mr. Klatt assimilated a working knowledge of what the industry required to get desired results. He sold that grove and looked around for another. This time he knew just what he wanted and would not buy until he found it. What he wanted was a ten-acre grove of young Valencia orange trees. He stated that they must be on the right side of the road, that is, on the windward side so that dust would not blow into the grove. Between his home and town was a 2 1/2-acre Valencia grove belonging to A. M. Cox, which was greatly admired by Mr. Klatt. He greatly desired to buy that grove but because of his limited resources felt he could not acquire it. He felt that such a big, improved piece of property could not be purchased with what he had to offer so he made no attempt to negotiate for it.

"One day, however, a friend asked him why he didn't buy the Cox grove. He told the friend that he didn't have sufficient money to buy such a fine place.

MACHINE STAMPS COUNTY'S NAME ON FRUIT

COUNTY'S BEES FILL DEMANDS FOR HONEY

Orange county bees will make only enough honey this year to supply the demand in Orange county.

This fact was made known this morning, following a meeting of the Beekeepers' department of the Orange county farm bureau held recently at the local farm bureau offices.

"With a normal yearly output of 200 tons of honey a year, this year's supply will not be in excess of sixty tons," A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the farm bureau, stated. "Bees did not work on the trees this year as they have done in the past."

"Virtually all of the honey that will be sold this year will be orange honey. Due to the fact that the black and white sage in the hills has about given out and the bees had only the orange trees to work on. In the orange groves, weather conditions weakened them to such an extent that they were not able to work steadily. We also believe that the wet weather, coming late, had a great deal to do with the scarcity of honey."

Beekeepers agreed that it would be useless to look for other than orange honey this year. Sage in the hills, according to Stanley has rapidly disappeared, and this with weather conditions is given by him as the reason for the small output this year.

"In spite of the low production, a scale hive here showed a remarkable production of twenty-four pounds of honey in twenty-four hours, which we believe is the best that has ever been recorded in this county," stated Stanley.

Prices for honey this month were also set at the meeting by the producers and beekeepers throughout the county were notified of the new prices which are as follows:

White orange honey in case or can lots, 16 cents a pound; ton lots or more, 15 cents a pound; 10 pound pails, $1.90; 3 pound glass jars, $7.20 a dozen.

Thousands of oranges, each and every fruit stamped with Orange county's insignia, were "missionary" in every nook of the United States today and telling the world that the finest fruits that grow come from Orange county.

The fruits are individually marked by the Sevinie stamping machine, twenty-two of which now are being operated in packing houses in this vicinity.

The machine works automatically and costs approximately $3000. The oranges pass through it on their way from the cleaner to the girls waiting to wrap and box them.

As they pass through, the machine gently stamps "Orange County Fruit Exchange" on each orange, in large letters, so that New Yorkers, Ohioans, South Carolinians, or consumers from any other state in the union will know that it is Orange county fruit, and as L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, said today, "will teach the consumer to ask for Orange county oranges in his next order."

"The reason Orange county growers stamp their name on the fruit is because they are proud of their product and they want to tell the entire East where they can get more of them, and make them insist on Orange county products in future orders," Palmer said. "It is insurance to the consumer that he is getting the best there is to be had in oranges."

The stamping process also will eliminate any chance of other than Orange county fruit being put in forged wrappers and sold as an Orange county product.

"The stamping machine has never before been used in Orange county," Palmer said, "although a number of exchanges and houses in counties north of here have adopted the scheme with success. This year we are installing them in virtually all the packing houses in the county. In many instances the packing houses are putting their own brand on the fruit instead of 'Orange County Fruit Exchange.' This, of course, is optional to them."

SAYS OUT OF DOOR CONCLAVE WORTHY

PASADENA, May 2.—"Western states, the great out-of-door sector of the Union should certainly rejoice over the possibilities back of the out-of-door conference just held in Washington," said Mrs. Mary K. Sherman.

Mrs. Sherman, chairman of the department of applied education of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which holds its biennial convention in Los Angeles June 3, is here preparatory to the conclave. She is Colorado's candidate for the presidency of the General Federation. She recently toured many West coast cities in the interest of National Garden week, of which she is the sponsor. "The general federation is greatly interested in the out-of-door program put forth by the conference called by President Coolidge," continued Mrs. Sherman. "The great western country, the great out door sector of the Union will of course be greatly interested in the project of which Theodore Roosevelt is the father."

In the out of doors, in Nature and all its wonders, we find the basis of all learning. The department of applied education is working hard to further nature study in the public schools of the country. In the exhibit of that department at the biennial I hope to show the value of that study to the coming generations.

"I have just received a letter from Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree association of Washington, D. C., telling me of the great work done by the Federated women during national garden week."

LOCAL CHAMBER CO-OPERATION TOLD BUREAU

The Orange county farm bureau and the Chambers of Commerce of Orange county are working hand in hand. There is no friction here as has been charged in a number of the counties in the South.

This fact was made known here today in a letter sent by A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau to the Los Angeles county farm bureau, which is making a survey of relationship between the Chambers of Commerce and the farm bureaus in Southern California.

"The arrangements in this county are almost ideal," stated Stanley, "and if all of the counties were as well situated in the matter as we are there would be no need for a survey as is being conducted by the Los Angeles farm bureau."

Stanley's letter follows:

"I will say that the arrangements in Orange county are almost ideal. Through co-operation with the chamber officials of the farm bureau have greatly brought about the understanding that the farm bureau is to handle the agricultural problems of the county while the chamber has charge of the matter of advertising the advantages of Orange county as a desirable home."

Takes Care of Needs.

"It is true that in some sections there are Chambers of Commerce where there apparently is no need of such an institution; where it is probable that the farm bureau could take care of all the real needs of that community. But we have found that in seeking out a new community it is quite natural for the seeker to apply to the Chamber of Commerce for information. This is the channel through which he has sought this information for years and it would be difficult for us to change him into the idea of applying to the farm bureau for information relative to location of a home, and therefore, it is probable that even the smaller communities need a Chamber of Commerce. However, after the man is located on a farm it is then the business of the farm bureau to take care of his community needs."

"The Chamber of Commerce of the county, known as the Associated Chambers of Commerce, has invited the farm bureau to elect two representatives each year to sit in that body with full privileges, and at present there is a movement on foot to change the constitution and by-laws of the farm bureau to permit the invitation of a representative from the Chambers of Commerce to sit on the board of directors. By this system we will have a cross representation which will always keep the duties of the two organizations in the mind of the

UNUSUAL TREE DORMANCY DUE TO FEBRUARY CONDITIONS IS CLAIM

Peaches, Pears and Apples Particularly Affected Says Farm Advisor

EXPERTS MAKE STUDY

Wind Storms During Fall Followed By Warm and Dry Months, Cause

By H. E. WAHLBERG

(Orange County Farm Advisor)

Growers of deciduous fruits in Orange county have been confronted with an unusual condition in the growth of the various deciduous trees this spring. Those particularly affected are peaches, pears, apples, nectarines and other miscellaneous fruit. The delayed dormancy has been experienced not only in Orange county. It now is apparently spreading over the entire Southland.

At an informal conference of representatives of the college of agriculture, the United States department of agriculture, and members of the agricultural staff of the Chaffey junior college, held at Ontario May 20, a study was made of conditions leading up to the present state of dormancy exhibited by deciduous trees.

Among those present were Dr. H. J. Webber, director of the citrus experiment station; Dr. J. T. Barrett, professor of plant pathology, citrus experiment station; A. H. Hendrickson, assistant professor of pomology, college of agriculture; Wm. T. Horne, associate professor of plant pathology, University of California; C. S. Pomeroy, pomologist, United States department of agriculture; H. R. Stanford, plant pathologist, Chaffey junior college; Geo. P. Weldon, director of deciduous work, Chaffey junior college, and other members of the college, and other members of the staff of the college of agriculture.

Orchards Visited

Numerous deciduous orchards were visited and studied by the above conference, after which thorough discussion led to several conclusions.

It was the opinion of the conference that the causes of the trees not foliating are primarily the unseasonably high temperature and bright sunlight accompanied by very low humidity during the month of February. Local growers will remember that February was an unusually warm and dry month with low humidity. The frequent severe dry winds occurring throughout the fall and winter months were also declared contributing factors, together with the low rainfall and the warm February, followed by a colder March.

Different fruits show marked variation in the amount of injury. Peaches in most sections showed the greatest delay in foliation which may result in greater or less injury. Apples have been very erratic in their growth behavior this spring, as well as pears and walnuts, but none of these have been quite so marked as the peach. The favorable weather of the past two weeks has been responsible for a greater evening up of the foliage in most of the walnut groves.

Will Effect Production

This unusual behavior of deciduous trees no doubt will have some effect on the production of the present season. Apricots are setting nicely in many sections of the county. The crop will be considerably less than last year but the size and quality of the fruit will be much better, which will be an advantage to the industry.

Subsequent behavior of trees following the present abnormal dormancy will depend largely on their previous condition and treatment. The conference felt that there might be some danger of further injury weather of the past two weeks if the weather turned out warm or hot. Trees still remaining largely leafless and exposed should be sprayed with white wash as a preventive treatment. A white wash made of 75 pounds of hydrated lime to 200 gallons of water will be found very satisfactory. The lime should be added slowly after the water is put in the tank with the agitator going.

Irrigation Care Urged

Careful attention should be given

The more durable a pump the more economical it becomes

Hundreds of Layne & Bowler Pumps have been in continuous operation for ten years or more. Irrigators select our pumps because they know that in the long run they are the most economical—requiring fewer repairs and least attention.

A factor contributing to the long life of our pumps is the oiling system. The Layne method of oil transmission to the bearings throughout the pump is unquestionably the most satisfactory ever devised. Its excellence is better comprehended by the fact that it has been in successful use for more than twenty years. It protects the bearings from sand and water and maintains proper lubrication at all friction points. The use of an enclosed transmission tube prevents water and sand from touching either the shaft or the bearings and as the tube is constantly filled with oil it effectually reduces friction and wear on the shaft and bearings to a minimum. There is absolutely no chance of sand cutting out the bearings and the pump can be operated successfully in wells yielding an amount of sand and foreign substances that would quickly cut out the bearings in pumps using other methods of lubrication.

DON'T DELAY ORDERING

If you place your order for a pump immediately we can make prompt delivery even though our factory is operating to capacity. We shall be pleased to send descriptive literature.

been placed on a more efficient basis. Consumers can buy with more assurance, and, though price, of course, fluctuates with demand and supply, they are enabled to obtain the full value of their expenditures because of the protection which standardization affords against inferior and unsatisfactory fruit.

Adopt High Standards
"It is only because high standards have been adopted and maintained that the confidence of the public has been won for the various fruits which appear periodically upon our markets, and growers understand that were they to relax their vigilance this highly valuable confidence would be destroyed. Also, the legislatures of great fruit-growing states have realized that any inferior fruit shipped from their commonwealths will hurt the reputation of their state upon the market and in the end will decrease their state's income from this source. Statutes have been adopted, accordingly, designed to protect the consumer against undesirable fruit, this protection being in addition to that afforded by the federal government and by local boards of health.

"Along with the production of better fruit and the increased protection afforded the consumer there has been a considerable broadening of the market for these standardized fruits. Indeed, the various improvements cited have in a measure depended upon this increase in the consuming power, for without it they would not have been possible economically. In this respect constructive educational advertising has proved of the highest service, and has been employed both by distributors and by cooperative associations of fruit growers.

"This broadening of the market for fruit has been obtained not only by persuading more persons to eat it but also by finding new uses for it or developing uses that have had limited popularity. Thus the California Fruit Growers' exchange has sold more than 12,000 electrical fruit-juice extractors to drug stores, confectionery stores, etc., and in this manner has materially aided in increasing the sale of fresh-made lemonade and orangeade."

to the irrigation in order to maintain a thorough and uniform distribution of water in the soil. If sufficient moisture is already present in the soil, it will not be necessary to put on further application at the present time.

No pruning should be done at this time as a good deal of the present growth which may seem lifeless or dormant, probably will leaf out later. Heavy cutting at this time merely will induce a further unbalance of the tree and also cause the removal of live wood which will put forth their leaves later on.

Will Place Sedan On Exhibit Here

That Joe Skidmore of Laguna Beach has purchased a four-passenger Lincoln sedan, was disclosed here today with announcement made by George Dunton, distributor, that the special model would be on exhibition at his show room, 420 East Fourth street, until noon tomorrow. Dunton said that with a new French blue fabric finish, done at a Santa Ana auto body building shop, and equipped with balloon tires, the car presented such a striking appearance that he had induced Skidmore to permit its display for a brief period so that others may view it before it goes into commission.

That noon when he returned home he was surprised when his friend told him that he thought an agreement could be made so that Klatt could get possession of the desired grove. Sure enough, by putting all the money he had and could borrow into it, the place became his.

Freeze in 1913
"That was late in 1912. The big freeze came early in 1913. At first he thought the crop was a total loss and that he was wiped out. Later examination showed the fruit on his trees to have been practically undamaged, suffering less than others in the district. While one neighbor marketed his fruit through an independent buyer for as low as 25 cents a box, Mr. Klatt shipped his through the California Fruit Growers' exchange for 6 cents a pound. That crop put Mr. Klatt on his feet. If it had failed, as did so many, the future would have been very dubious. He would have been set heavily in debt, perhaps losing everything he had. Those trees are now 17 years old and have never suffered a loss.

"This 21½-acre grove is now set out entirely in valencias. When he bought it there were three acres of navels which have since been budded over to valencias. The trees have always been good producers. One year when tree records were kept, the production was around ten boxes to the tree, with an average of 800 boxes to the acre. Some of the trees have produced as high as 20 field boxes. During the war help was hard to get and harder to keep. What help could be had was very independent. So no tree records have been kept since the war, but the production now is about the same as then, with perhaps a slight decrease.

Has 78 Acres Now
"Today Mr. Klatt has 78 acres of land, all in valencia oranges with the exception of 12 acres of bearing walnuts.

When the trees were young a cover crop of vetch was raised with good results to the soil. Now that the trees are older, Mr. Klatt does not use a cover crop but the trees cast much shade. The value of the cover crop when the trees were young was apparent. A crop was sown late, so late that only one-half of the grove was covered. The difference could be noted. "In cultivation," said Mr. Klatt to the Citrusgraph man, "I could tell the dividing line between the portion where the cover crop was sown and the portion where no cover crop was grown, from the mechanical working of the soil alone."

"While the trees were young fertilizer was not used to a great extent by Mr. Klatt because they did not seem to need it. Now that the trees are older they require mineral aid and Mr. Klatt says he intends applying fertilizers. One point stressed by Mr. Klatt was that of deep cultivation. He has always cultivated deeply and with good results.

"Citting in the cool recesses in the front room of his spacious town house on Washington avenue, Santa Ana, when he gave the writer the facts narrated here, Mr. Klatt showed himself as a modest, unassuming man, a deliberate talker, but with conviction in every word. The years spent in the citrus industry have shown themselves very favorably on Mr. Klatt's physical appearance.

Features Bronzed
His features are bronzed by constant contact with the warm California sun and his brown hair, slightly gray at the temples gives him the distinguished appearance of a professional man. His personality is characteristic of the type of men he represents; men engaged in the citrus industry. He is a good husband, a loving father, and an honest, hard working man, worthy of the line of endeavor he chose to follow.

"Mr. Klatt's boyhood was spent in the little town of Lincoln, Illinois, where he was born in 1880. He grew up in the town and went to the high school there, taking a business college course. After graduating from high school he, and his brother, entered the livery business established by his father. That was in the days when the hay burner was the popular means of locomotion, before the days of the gasoline chariots. He stayed in the business for two years, when he came west for a winter to view the wonders of California. Selling out his interest to his brother-partner, Klatt, with his wife, who was formerly Miss Lena A. Few, left for the Pacific coast where they have been ever since.

They have two children, Frank, 13, and Jeanette, 6. Mr. Klatt spends a great deal of his time with his boy at La Cresenta. He took him there for his health, to get him into a higher, dryer climate.

CYCLE OFFICER AVOIDS CRASH: DRIVER FINED

While Motorcycle Officer V. Barnhill was pursuing a speeder yesterday, Julius Lopez, of Lincoln street, failed to drive his car to one side at the sound of the siren, and, instead, turned his machine directly in front of the speed officer, who had a narrow escape from serious injury, according to a report on file today at police headquarters here.

Barnhill then gave up pursuit of the speeder and instead arrested Lopez on a charge of reckless driving, with the result that Lopez paid a fine of $15 in City Recorder W. P. Heathman's court this morning.

J. H. Ebersole, accused of driving his car twenty-eight miles an hour across the Fifth and Artesia intersection, was assessed $25. C. Martinez, charged with reckless driving, was levied a fine of $25. David Russell paid $15 for speeding across a dangerous intersection.

K. Tyler of Garden Grove failed to close his muffler cutout when he reached Santa Ana and was fined $5 for the unnecessary noise made by his automobile. T. J. Lincoln and John Goyack dug up $5 apiece for parking overtime in the two-hour zone, and C. W. Christenson handed Judge Heathman $2 for parking his car in the restricted district.

FALLEN HEROES HONORED HERE BY ROTARY

In memory of American hero dead, a special patriotic memorial program featured yesterday's weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club. Between the opening song, "America," and the closing song, "The Star Spangled Banner," addresses were delivered by Edwin McFadden, R. E. Dye and Joseph Skidmore, and a song, "The Americans Come," was sung by Dr. A. J. Collins.

The club president, Dr. M. A. Fenton, presented McFadden, a veteran of the World war, as chairman in charge of the program. McFadden declared that on Memorial day every American should give serious, sentimental thought to the sacrifices that have been made in behalf of liberty. He urged that citizens, in general, join in the exercises to be held at the cemetery under the auspices of the veterans of the last three great wars—Civil, Spanish-American and World.

"On that day," said Dye, "we should give thought to the man who gave more than any of us can give or can ever hope to give, unless we pay the same price."

Dye outlined the history of the establishment of Memorial day. He said that thirty-nine states observe May 30 as Memorial day, and nine other states have other days of like meaning.

That it lies in the destiny of America for some great man to arise to meet every great national need, was declared by Skidmore.

"In like manner," he said, "we find the individual American arises in thoughtful bravery to meet emergencies." Skidmore paid a high tribute to those whose lives have been sacrificed.

A man's novel expedient to "make capital" out of his son's wedding was narrated in a London police court when a Pole was charged with begging. It was said that he attended his son's wedding dressed in a silk hat and fashionable clothes. Before the ceremony was over, he hurried home, changed into rags, and, returning to the church, begged from the guests as they left.

A young English engineer, strolling one evening along a country road, noticed that the seeds falling from the sycamores acquired a rotary motion before reaching the ground. Taking one up, he found that two wings were turned in opposite directions, at an angle to each other, and that this mutual inclination caused them to revolve. This gave him the idea of the screw-propeller, which now drives gigantic liners across the Atlantic. No two snowflakes are alike.

NO NEW CATTLE MALADY CASES WITHIN STATE

"No infected herds Tuesday." That brief message received by wire today at the office here of A. A. Brock, county director of agriculture, bore news of a winning fight against the state's epidemic of foot and mouth disease.

The message came from G. H. Hecke, head of the state department of agriculture, and represented conditions throughout the state. According to Brock, yesterday was the first day to pass without a new infection being discovered somewhere in the state since virtually the beginning of the epidemic. Today's message was therefore hailed as significant of progress being made in the fight to stamp out the disease.

At the same time, it was made known by Brock, further precautions are being made, to prevent new outbreaks in Orange county. A crew of workmen, Brock stated, was engaged in slaughtering cattle in the Los Alamitos district, all scattered stock in that district having been purchased by the govern-

Now We Know Why People Have Burning Feet

All in the Joints Says Maine Doctor

"What fools we mortals be." All these years we have been trying to help thousands of foot-burned people by bathing and powdering the skin when all the time the real trouble is in the bones, ligaments and cartilage.

Or, to be short, in the joints. There are 26 bones in the foot covered with cartilage and connected with ligaments and they have a tremendous amount of work to do.

The slightest strain on one little bone from being "on the feet" too long inflames the whole foot, causes soreness and burning, aching and swelling.

This can be quickly proved. "Joint-Burn" is a remedy that is compounded for joint troubles only—such as Joint-Burn, which every druggist has, and see how quickly your feet are cooled, inflamed and aching feet well and strong and sturdy.

Get your powdering and soaking when you are just a few days old and all of your misery by Joint-Burn.

It is an active emollient that you rub with your fingers for about a minute. It goes right in through skin and away down to the joints—cooling seat of all troubles.

Remember when Joint-Burn is used for 60 cents—every drug store. It is not agony gets out—quickly.

Druggists sell lots of Joint-Burn.

SENIORS DENIED 'DITCH DAY' BY BOARD

Santa Ana high school seniors will not have a "ditch" day this year, as has been conducted by seniors in other schools in the Southland.

This was decided at the semi-monthly meeting of the board of education, held at 4:30 p. m. yesterday, when it was reported to day, the board went on record as opposing such an affair, following a request for the special day made by a committee of boys from the senior class.

"Ditch" day, as was explained by the committee, was a day on which all seniors remained away from school. Instead, they go to the beach or some other place, where they could amuse themselves away from their studies. The committee explained that the "ditch" day held by the seniors of the San Diego high school recently had been a "most enjoyable affair."

The school board, in answer, stated that it did not want to take the responsibility for the welfare of the girls and boys on such a "hilarious occasion" and followed its remarks by voting refusal of the request.

The resignations of eight teachers were received and accepted. They are Eleanor Hughes, Evadne B. Wells, Harry Garstang, Roberta Briggs, Esther M. Carr, E. C. Rogers, Ruth Baker and Margaret Baker.

The board went on record as favoring the extension of the present schedule of salaries received by Santa Ana teachers in the high school and elementary schools. This plan increases $100 a year salaries of teachers who remained in Santa Ana schools more than one year. Maximum salaries are fixed.

READY MARKET IS FOUND FOR LAMBS

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—The marketing season for California's large annual output of spring lambs is at its height. This product of the West not only is in demand on the coast, but in New York and other eastern markets.

Through co-operation of the producers and the railroads this year's supply of lambs from the state is being marketed in an advantageous manner.

Demand in the East is evidenced by the fact that reports up to the end of the present week show a total of about 100 cars, carrying 65,000 lambs, have been shipped this season from California to New York alone.

The annual lamb "crop" of California totals about 1,400,000. Of this number, more than 850,000 spring lambs are ready for the market in April and May. The lambs come under the classification of perishable products as they must be marketed at the proper time to provide the best meat.

ment and rounded up for slaughter.

This action, it was stated, was taken upon instructions from Dr. Bennett and Dr. Murdoch, federal officials in charge of the foot-and-mouth campaign in Southern California. The officials, after looking over the ground late yesterday, decided upon their course.

Most of the cattle thus purchased, Brock said, is owned by Mexicans who have one or two cows each.

Urges Community Property Income Tax Advice Asked

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—"The recent decision of the internal revenue bureau, recognizing community property laws affecting residents of California," said Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell here today, "is of vital interest to executors, administrators and beneficiaries of estates."

"This ruling, while it removes from liability to estate tax one-half of the community property, does not in any wise relieve those in charge of an estate from making return of the same if the gross estate, including all community property, exceeds $50,000."

"A great many attorneys are laboring under an erroneous impression as to the necessity of making return of estate tax under the above conditions and may cause heavy penalties to be paid by administrators whom they advise."

"I can not too strongly urge anyone in charge of a gross estate of approximately $50,000, whether or not it includes community property, to get in direct touch with my office where he will be given correct advice as to his liability. Hundreds of estates are liable to returns, which may have no tax to pay, but the failure to make returns of which incurs specific penalties of $1000."

Mother Knew Cardui's Value

Georgia Lady, Who Had Lost Too Much Weight, Was Advised to Take Cardui and Is Now Well.

Columbus, Ga.—Mrs. George S. Hunter, of 17 North Columbus, was relieved of great pain and suffering by following the advice of her mother, who knew, from her own experience, of the value of Cardui.

"After I married, thirteen months ago," writes Mrs. Hunter, "I suffered with dreadful pains in my sides during... My side hurt so bad it nearly killed me. I had to go to bed and stay there some two weeks at a time. I could not work and I just dragged around the house...."

"I got very thin—I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had long been a user of Cardui and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve."

"My side hurt less and I began to improve in health.... The Cardui acted as a fine tonic and I do not feel like the same person. I am so much better. I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and my stomach is better. I wish every suffering woman knew about Cardui."

News from Orange County

ACCEPT SEWER CONNECTION IN ORANGE

ORANGE, May 28.—With work on the joint outfall sewer completed to the satisfaction of the local board of trustees and accepted by them here yesterday afternoon, City Engineer C. Bonebrake late yesterday evening switched the local sewage from the septic tanks into which it has been running, into the sewer.

Several of the local trustees journeyed to the scene of the change and watched the process as it proceeded. The project was accepted as satisfactory as far as the city work was concerned, but it was understood that some work was yet to be completed by the contractor for the county in the filling of ditches and repairing the highway at various points.

Resolution No. 291 was passed by a unanimous vote of the local board of trustees here yesterday at their regular session. The resolution dealt with the division of the motor vehicle taxes between the state, county and city.

An amendment to ordinance 119 section 20 was introduced by the board of trustees by City Attorney L. F. Coburn, in regard to the payment of salaries but was laid over until the next meeting.

Considerable discussion resulted that the "emergency fund" of the city had been overdrawn and that total expenditures for the month of May had reached $250 from a different source than that of the city. It was suggested that the payment of these bills be installed which will probably mean that all bills of the city will be passed upon and paid by the board every two weeks.

City Clerk Clark Lester, and City Attorney Coburn were instructed by the board to look into the matter and report at the next meeting to be held June 10 at 1 p. m.

Considerable discussion was also had over the excavations of sand and gravel from the river east of town endangering the safety of the Chapman street bridge. The Orange County Rock and Gravel company has been notified to stop within eighty feet of the bridge, it was claimed, but some of the trustees thought it better that the excavations be continued up to the sixty feet at a depth of sixteen feet and then let the company bring the work up to eight feet to the bridge so that the water might find a more ready outlet under the bridge and not back up. It was decided to investigate the matter thoroughly and take it up again at the next meeting.

Several other matters of lesser importance also came to the attention of the trustees, including the passing of a bill for $54.85 in favor of Clara B. Turton, whose land was recently condemned by the city for use as an addition to the Southern California Automobile club, was present at the meeting and urged the city to secure liability and indemnity insurance on their machines several of which are being operated without this protection at the present time. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting following an estimate of the cost by Brown to the trustees.

The contractor's bond for the street work in the North Orange tract was ordered returned following the completion of the work on the tract to the satisfaction of the city. Lights at Murray Place and the city authorized by the old board of trustees were ordered installed by the new board. It is expected that the Edison company will take immediate action on the lights.

Lawrence Stevenson, M. O. Ainsworth, City Clerk Clark Lester, and Trustee Jeffrey were appointed as a committee to look into the matter of installing a new accounting and bookkeeping system for the city records, in the near future. The bond for street superintendent is also to be taken up at the next meeting following investigation by the city attorney as to the amount of the bond required by other cities. The meeting was adjourned until June 10.

Fullerton Youth Said to Admit Robbing Houses

FULLERTON, May 28.—Admission that he had broken into several homes and made attempts on two others is said to have been made by Oliver Laws, Fullerton boy burglar suspect, in a confession to police. The mystery of a series of robberies here during the past two months has been cleared up by the lad's statements.

Young Laws, who is 18 years of age, was captured in Santa Barbara Friday after he had fled in his father's automobile. He narrowly escaped capture the night before when R. R. Allen of 600 West Wilshire grappled with him in his home but failed to subdue the intruder. The youth's cap was lost in the encounter and this led to his speedy identification. Some of the loot has been recovered.

When the boy burglar appeared before Judge French this afternoon for a preliminary hearing he was bound over to the superior court on $2000 bail.

ORANGE COUNTY CITRUS MEN BOMBARD OREGON GOVERNOR TO LIFT BAN ON PRODUCTS

ORANGE, May 28.—With Gov. Pierce of Oregon reported to be ready to sign a proclamation prohibiting the foot and mouth embargo to permit California citrus fruits to enter Oregon, Orange county citrus authorities today laid down a telegraphic bombardment in Sacramento requesting G. H. Hecke, state agricultural director, and Dr. U. G. Houck, federal quarantine director, to use their influence further to safeguard Orange county citrus fruits.

The proclamation to sign will permit citrus products from non-infected counties to be shipped into infected areas. Due to two outbreaks in the Los Alamitos district, Orange county at present is listed among the infected counties, and the proclamation, as now planned, still would bar local products from Oregon territory.

The telegraphic pleas, headed by that of Supervisor Whitsett, urged the officials to exert their influence with Dr. Simms, Oregon livestock inspector, now in Sacramento, to have him induce Gov. Pierce to modify the proposed proclamation so that it will permit citrus shipments from non-infected areas instead of non-infected counties, to enter Oregon.

"Orange county ships about 75 per cent of the oranges and a large per cent of the lemons consumed in Oregon at this season," Whitsett's telegram read. "If county is made unit instead of non-infected area Orange county citrus will suffer great loss."

"The Orange county citrus district is far removed from that section affected with the foot and mouth disease, and we beg you to use your good offices with Dr. Houck to induce him to influence Gov. Pierce to make non-infected areas instead of 'county unit'."

SEAL SHOOTING AROUSES FOLK AT BEACHES

SEAL BEACH, May 28.—Seal Beach civic bodies aroused to strenuous action by the daily slaughter of seals which made Southern California beaches famous are preparing a memorial to all chambers of commerce in the Southland, to local officials and congress at Washington to forbid the further killing of the animals recently left unprotected by the repeal of an Orange county ordinance.

Speakers at the Boosters' club last night declared that the supervisors had taken snap judgment and repealed a protective ordinance of forty years standing, and called for a new ordinance and for greater cooperation between the local, county, state and government agencies for protection of one of the state's great attractions for tourists.

The relaxation of the local game laws has had serious consequences for the seals. Judge G. H. Morrison and G. H. Richards were among the speakers who condemned the shooting of the hair seal or sea lion, as the California seal is technically known. These seals have made Seal Beach, Seal Beach and Catalina Island famous, and are seen at few other points. Judge Morrison said the low sand bar between Seal Beach and Long Beach is the breeding ground for all the seals in waters washing the shores of Southern California, and that the present policy of indifference will mean the extermination of the animals which annually attract hundreds of thousands of tourists to the favored spots.

"The people of Santa Ana, Pasadena, Glendale and Los Angeles have just as much at stake as Long Beach and Seal Beach in the preservation of the seals," said Richards.

"We must enlist the aid of all these cities in the movement and carry our plea to the state and local authorities and the United States marine bureau and to congress at Washington."

Bodies of seals shot at sea or from the land float to shore daily, according to City Marshal Arnold, who reported that most of the shooting is done by fishermen who found the seals entangled in their nets. It was also stated that many fishing boats supposed to be forbidden to operate within the three-mile limit are often as close as 300 yards to shore, damaging the fishing banks as much as the seals could possibly do.

Long Beach will be requested to enforce its ordinance against the discharge of firearms in the city limits. As the two beach cities now adjoint, close co-operation is expected to affect the seal situation favorably.

Placentia Men to Gather at Chamber

PLACENTIA, May 28.—The merchants division of the Placentia chamber of commerce will hold their regular monthly luncheon meeting tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Placentia cafe. About 30 merchants will attend, and Gifford Farrar, chairman, has a good speaker who has been arranged for this evening.

This meeting is for the purpose of discussing the booster ticket proposition and the program for Tuesday, June 3, the drawing day. Merchants report a keen interest among their customers to get the May yellow booster tickets, which will entitle them to a chance at the $25. Cash awards to be given away by the chamber of commerce at 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

C. L. Green is preparing to move his service station from the present location at the corner of Chapman and Placentia avenues to 121 North Broadway avenue.

The house on the downtown beach property is to be moved to the rear and workmen are busy getting the house in shape.

The new shop will carry, besides the gas and oil, the usual tires and accessories and in all probability will give better service.

For those who did not have a radio set to receive the splendid boosting advertising and musical program that was put on Friday night by KFI for the Placentia chamber of commerce, there were special provisions at the chamber of commerce room at the Courter office for all to hear the program, who loaned the chamber a big loud speaker radio set, so all could hear the broadcasting. A large crowd was present and everyone was delighted at the splendid program that was given by the local people.

COUNTY HARBOR IS GIVEN PUBLICITY

NEWPORT BEACH, May 28.—That the activities of Orange county harbor toward creating a great commercial port are meeting with the recognition of the far corners of the United States is evidenced by the recent publication in the New York World of a two column article with a number of illustrations of the harbor and boats being prepared for participation in a huge moving picture production.

The story published told of the activities of the harbor and its aims toward becoming one of the commercial waterways of the Pacific coast. In addition to this there has been ordered from Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County harbor chamber of commerce, a series of pictures dealing with the development of the harbor and a short description article on what the completed plans will mean to the shipping of the Pacific coast, this to be published in the Saturday Evening Post.

"It is evident," said Welch, "that the activity of the harbor is exciting interest throughout the country as there are repeated demands for stories on just what Orange county is doing toward waterway development. The recent visit of government engineers was broadcast throughout the country by news agencies and this has had the effect of creating a demand for additional information on the work we are trying to do here."

It is pointed out by a number of eastern publications on file at the harbor chamber of commerce that the more rapid the development of the waterways of the Pacific that the greater will be the expedition of the commercial supremacy of the United States on the sea.

First Cost is Last Cost when You Build with Concrete Masonry

How much will your house cost you for upkeep during the next twenty years?

Nearly as much as you paid for it unless it is of permanent construction. And you can't get permanent construction without durable structural materials. They must be proof against fire, storm and decay.

Concrete grows stronger with age. It's fire-safe, wind-safe, and enduring. Concrete Masonry units—block, brick and tile—inherit these qualities.

Concrete Masonry is the modern Basic Building Material.

And it costs little if any more than less durable materials. Through its use you save on painting, repairing, fuel and depreciation. The money that would have gone to pay bills for upkeep goes into your pocket. It helps to pay off the building loan.

And there is the added satisfaction of owning a permanently attractive home with its enduring comfort and protection. That is yours without extra cost.

When you buy or build insist that YOUR home is built for enduring economy—of Concrete Masonry.

Watch for advertisements telling about the many other uses of concrete. And remember that the Portland Cement Association has a free personal service to offer you. Whether you use concrete or have it used for you, this service will give you more for your money.

merce during the last farm bureau membership drive. At that time the chamber inserted a full page ad in their local paper urging farmers to join the bureau and good results were obtained by this means.

"At present the two organizations are working together in very close harmony and each of us refers to the other those things which should be handled by the other organization. As I said in the beginning this condition is almost ideal and I believe that all it lacks is a declaration of the aspirations of each organization, the formation of a definite policy of relationship, and perhaps the division of membership."

"We believe farmers should belong to the farm bureau and business men should belong to the Chamber of Commerce. We believe that when matters arise which involve the interests of both the organizations, representatives of the organizations should get together on the problem. Especially would this be desirable when the operation of one organization might conflict with the best interests of the members of the other party."

Iron Out Difference.

"Should such conditions arise we believe that the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the executive committee of the farm bureau could sit down together and iron out their differences in a short time. You will generally find that these men are public spirited, broad thinking men and are willing to give and take. When they find that their own selfish ambitions are going to react against the benefit of the whole they will recede from their position. The question is settled by co-operation and understanding."

"We do not believe it is necessary for farmers to belong to a Chamber of Commerce in order to protect their interests. The farm bureau should be strong enough and should be recognized by the Chambers of Commerce as a sort of compatriot, and their wishes should be considered in regard to agricultural needs or matters affecting the interests of the farmers which they represent just as much as if the farmers were members of the Chamber of Commerce."

"I have in mind a situation where the farmers have joined a rural Chamber of Commerce in order to prevent the town from incorporating and including in its limits a large agricultural area. These farmers do not want to play parlor politics and pay the taxes which necessarily follow that great American game. It seems that this is a case where the farm center as an organization representing all the farmers interests, should have said, 'Brother, we don't want to be included in your city,' and the chamber should have recognized their wishes. A sort of 'man to man' situation and agreement."

"We might summarize this whole situation in the cryptic motto—'You get 'em, we keep 'em,' amplifying that motto by the statement that the Chamber of Commerce represents the business man in particular, the county as a whole in the matter of exploitation, inducing settlement, and encouraging industries. The bureau represents the farmers in particular, the general agricultural progress of the county, and the consumer interest (taxes, public utilities)."

"That the two should work together with the understanding that one organization is no greater than the other; that the wishes of one should not conflict with the desires of the other; that they should recognize each other as comrades and co-workers, each sincerely having the welfare of the entire community at heart."

"In the foregoing I have tried to explain the local situation, and since it is so nearly ideal I have only pointed out what changes might be desirable."

"I hope that this will be of some value to you in your survey."

Very truly yours,
"A. M. STANLEY,
Sec'y-Mgr., Orange County Farm Bureau."

JOURNALISM IN SCHOOLS IS RECOGNIZED

Winner of Individual Cup
Write of Advancement
In Importance

BY FLORENCE BOOSEY.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—From an insignificant and much neglected side issue, journalism has developed and expanded until today it is one of the main activities in the school.

Perhaps the primary reason for this interest is the fact that journalism was installed for the first time last fall as a part of the course of study. The staff for the school paper, "The Broadcaster," is chosen from this class, and it is to their interest scholastically to put forth their best efforts. In the other years the paper was set up by students outside their regular school work, in spare moments, and as they received no credit for it there was no stimulus prodding them on to greater efforts.

The greatest benefit derived from the Junior Register is that it has afforded opportunity for students who really wish to follow up the profession of journalism to gain practical experience in writing for newspapers, coupled with expert criticism while they are learning.

Ten students have been enrolled in the journalism class at Tustin High and, though small in numbers and unpretentious, set out to make the school paper a live and expressive organ of student life. Very little attention was paid them at first, but as weeks passed the untiring efforts of this class gained the recognition of the student body. "The Broadcaster" was looked forward to with real pleasure; and the author of a particularly deserving article in the Junior Register was always the recipient of many congratulations.

During the year many have inquired into the journalism course and it is believed that the journalism class will no longer be the smallest in the school. Journalism has come into its own.

GROVE JUNIORS TO BANQUET SENIORS

BY FERN WILSON

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—"What's the coming?" "The Junior-Senior banquet to be held Tuesday June 3rd in the Women's Civic Club house."

The junior class has chosen the needed committees and they are beginning plans for a jolly good time. The decoration committee of Pearl Crowley, Cynthia Kirven, Pearl Blacholder, Wallace Geron, Walter Allen and Carl Kern, plan to decorate the room artistically in Japanese style. The program committee, including Elsie Smith, Fern Wilson, Archie Kearns and Milton Chaffee, is working out an interesting program to be conducted in Japanese fashion, and last but not least the refreshment committee is busy working out a "tasty" menu for the occasion. They have secured the services of the women of the Civic Club to prepare the dinner.

This year's banquet will be much larger than that of last year because both classes are larger.

GROVE STUDENTS WAIT FOR "PEP"

BY ETHEL EMERSON

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—"When is 'Pep' coming out?"

This is the question asked by many students. This is the second edition of "Pep" and with Mrs. Pringle, staff advisor, Marie Newman, editor-in-chief, Rodney Collins, business manager and a competent staff it promises to be a dandy. Two hundred copies eight by eleven, consisting of 38 pages will appear June 2. The book is dedicated to the board of trustees who erected the new building. The entire cost of the book is $725. To the Bert Rose company of Los Angeles and the Thorpe Engraving company the staff owes many thanks for their patience and help. The main feature of the 1924 "Pep" is the addition of many excellent pictures. F. D. Leonard of Santa Ana took group pictures. Miss Mary Smart of Santa Ana took individual pictures and also snapped the play pictures. The Citizens Bank of Garden Grove offered $25 in $5 prizes to persons taking the best snapshot, cover design, story, essay and poem. The prizes were won by Earl Walker, Cynthia Kirven, Leslie Blair, Louis Head and Harriet McCalla, respectively.

Last Issue of This Paper Until Next Fall

This is the last issue of the Junior Register until next fall. At that time the organization in the respective schools will again be perfected and the publication of the paper started again.

During the summer months the editor will be looking out for new ideas to improve the arrangement of news and to bring about a higher standard of high school journalism.

Students who contemplate entering the Junior Register work in the fall can get a better grasp of newspaper style and practices by reading the newspapers carefully.

FULLERTON TO INSTALL OWN PRINTERY

BY LILIAN TROWBRIDGE.

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—With the announcement by the board of trustees of Fullerton union high school to the effect that a printing plant will be installed here next year, students interested in that work and in journalism today were expressing their approval of the board's action.

While the participation in the Junior Register this year by the local students has been of necessity more or less curtailed because of lack of time, Miss Bertha Lancaster, journalism instructor, said today that she hopes to greatly enlarge the scope of the work next year. A number of the best writers will be lost by graduation but excellent material is expected to develop from the undergraduates who will enter the course.

Fullerton union high school is the only Orange county high school to have a completely equipped "city room" with typewriters for use of student reporters. One of the biggest achievements of the journalism students this year, it is declared, was the publication of one issue of a Fullerton daily paper. The students were the recipients of many congratulatory remarks upon the quality of their work and the bright appearance of the paper.

With the installation of the printing equipment it is expected that the printing of "The Pleiades," the weekly school paper, will be greatly facilitated. At the present time the paper is published by a Placentia printing plant. With the plant operating in connection with the school it is predicted that the students will take an increased interest in the work of both writing and producing it in printed form.

GROVE CLASS DAY AROUSSES INTEREST

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—"Curiosity killed the cat!"

Well if June 2nd doesn't come in a hurry, the curiosity of the juniors, sophomores and freshmen will get the best of them, for that is the date of the first senior class day at Garden Grove High.

Among the girls the main topic seems to be clothes. The five girls may be found whispering together, when all of a sudden one will burst out with, "Oh, let's not wear that." "Good night," or "Do you want that?"

When the seniors are interviewed on what the nature of the program will be, they toss their heads with a superior air, and then say, "Oh that would be telling."

Mrs. Pringle, one of the class teachers also refuses to tell, but by the twinkle in her eyes, it is known some surprises are on foot. The last assembly of the year will be held on this date also, so the lower classmen feel justified in being curious.

LIFE SAVING IS TOPIC FOR RADIO

BY THERON SAUERS

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—People who tuned in on a certain popular radio station a few days ago were favored with one of the most extraordinary lectures. The topic was life-saving and the different styles of swimming. The "professor" first suggested that those wishing to follow instructions should take a reclining position on the floor or couch.

The speaker then explained the proper motions necessary to gain the best traction on the water with the least possible exertion. While the arms and legs were being given a lesson in water propulsion the gold fish jumped about cutting all kinds of capers—just to show the ignorant "how it was done."

The correspondence course once reigned as the "large class champion" but the "large class champion" in school the other night than any class yet conducted.

Here are the winners of the Junior Register cups. Left to right, back row, Roma Tedford, Anaheim high school, holding the Charles Wheatley cup for the best straight news story; Betty Hazelton, Huntington Beach high school, with the cup offered for the best piece of fiction; Auburn Huffman, Tustin high school, holding the cup offered for the best poem; Mary Dunstan, Tustin high school, holding the T. E. Stephenson cup for the best editorial; Florence Boosey, Tustin high school, holding the C. C. Chapman cup for the best individual work. Front row, left to right, Katie Best, Santa Ana high school, holding the cup offered for the best commercial art and the Jake Fisher cup for the best cartoon; Elsie Smith, Garden Grove high school, holding the cup won by her school for the best all around work done by any school in the year. TUSTIN YOUTH TELLS ABOUT MANIA FOR MOTORING WITH ADVICE FOR OWNERS OF CARS

BY HORACE BUTLER.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—The most useful accomplishment one can learn nowadays is to drive a car. If you can't drive a car, you are forced to become either a tramp or a millionaire, so that you can hire a chauffeur. But there are a number of people who do not want to become hobos, and whose oil stock doesn't pay dividends, and who are severely handicapped by not knowing how to drive a car.

The first thing, of course, is to get a car. If you haven't a handy bank account, a small mortgage on your place will handle the first payment nicely. Never worry about the second payment. You may have a piece of the car left to pay for, but maybe you won't be there to pay for it anyway.

After you get a car, the next thing is to drive it. First, get in the front seat, then see that the gear lever sticks straight up; lower the spark lever and the gas lever, press on the starter button. If you haven't forgotten to turn on the switch, it ought to start. If it doesn't start then, push your car to the top of some hill, throw it in gear, and start down. If it doesn't get a chug by the time you reach the bottom of the hill, you're probably out of gas.

Anyway, after it's started, juggle the gear-lever around till you find low, let out on the clutch, step on the gas, grab the steering wheel with both hands, and go to it. When the car swerves to the left, turn the wheel to the left, and vice versa. When you want to stop, point for the first convenient telephone pole and let 'er go.

COMMENCEMENT AT GROVE IS JUNE 6

BY INIS RUSSELL

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—The commencement exercises of the Garden Grove high school will be held June 6 at the grammar school auditorium at 8 o'clock. Plans have not been completed for the program. Dr. Dexter, president of Whittier college, will give the address. Mrs. Smith, who will have charge of the music, has announced that the girls' glee club and the orchestra will take part.

The seniors, five girls and five boys, will no doubt make a pretty scene with the girls in white cap and gown or crepe de chine dresses and the boys in their dark suits, marching in two by two. Everyone considers it rare good fortune that there are even number of boys and girls.

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—It seems impossible to realize that vacation time is so near. Trips of all kinds are being planned. Some are going on short vacations, while others are planning to spend the entire three months in other states.

Mr. Hoenshel is planning a very interesting trip. His first stopping place is to be Omaha, where he will attend the Lions' convention as an official delegate. His next stop will be at Washington, D. C., where he expects to attend the National Education association convention.

On returning Mr. Hoenshel plans to spend some time in Kansas, Missouri and Pennsylvania, visiting friends and relatives.

HER TRIUMPH

Written by Betty Hazelton of Huntington Beach High School, Winner of Cup for Best Fiction

On the porch of a charming, though tiny cottage surrounded by innumerable shrubs and flowers offering a brilliant color setting, sat a pale-faced woman. Her features were fine-cut, delicate; her deep-blue eyes looked tired and worn, but she bore the sweet patient expression of one who has seen much of the tragedy of life.

As she sat dreaming, a young girl of about nineteen summers came out of the cottage singing. Rosy-cheeked, golden-haired, happy, she was a sharp contrast to Dona. The woman spoke softly, "Sing that again, Eleon." And Eleon sang. Eleon's lovely soprano voice made the saddest heart brighter.

Eleon had particular reason to be happy today. She had been studying at the Sutton conservatory, and playing minor roles in professional productions. But today Jerome De Grasse, manager of the famous Ormunda Opera company, had offered her the lead in his next production. Her chance had come at last!

Dona was overjoyed. Since the death of their mother, Dona had cared for her young sister, and all her small earnings had gone toward the upkeep of the home, and the training of Eleon's voice. Her life had been devoted to the development of Eleon's talent.

But shadowing the joy of recognition was a sorrow that hung over both girls. Dona had been working long hours, and her endurance had given out. Rest had not built her up; accordingly a doctor had been called. He found the truth. Dona was a victim of the white scourge, and could not live long. He prescribed complete rest, but he did not hold out much hope.

Rehearsals for the opera were staged daily, but the production on hand was so successful that it was running indefinitely, and it was to be some time before Eleon's actual appearance.

At the second rehearsal Eleon became acquainted with Peggy Meerchante, a peroxide blonde whose rouge-pot beauty did not harmonize with the natural loveliness of Eleon. However, the girls were thrown together in their work, and before long became intimate friends. Peggy insisted on taking Eleon with her to midnight suppers and roadhouse dances, and though Dona objected most earnestly, Eleon struck a rather fast stride. At first Eleon did not join the devotees of the ash-tray, but it seemed poor sportsmanship when all others smoked, so she indulged, at first infrequently, then oftener, until she, too, had become addicted. The discovery horrified her. Especially the knowledge that Dona might find it out; and then her disappointment in Eleon's strength of character would be unbearable.

Time passed quickly, and the opening night was but two weeks off. Jerome De Grasse was worried about Eleon. At first her voice had been beautiful, now it was uncertain, at times harsh and weak. Dona, too, had noticed the

TEACHER PASSES OWN EXAMINATION

BY INIS RUSSELL.

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—The high school has reason to be proud of a teacher who is capable of passing her own examinations!

When the students of the Garden Grove High heard that the teachers are now required to take examinations on the United States Constitution, exclamations of joy were heard all over the school.

It has often been said that some college and likewise high school teachers give examinations to their students which they themselves could not pass. So, when Mrs. Fine, teacher of Latin, history, civics and economics, was required to take an examination on the constitution students were especially elated.

Yet on Thursday, May 22, Miss Dodson announced to her English classes that Mrs. Fine had come with flying colors. When Mrs. Fine was asked her grade she said, "Oh, I received a one and two noughts." So with one hundred per cent, no doubt she will never be accused of giving too hard exams. The other two teachers to take this test Miss Alton and Miss Brubaker, also passed with flying colors.

VALUE OF ACHIEVEMENT

A man's aim is achievement, whether in business, pleasure or athletics. After achieving an ideal or aim there is a feeling of satisfaction of having tackled a job and finishing it. In school work a person feels as if he has helped his fellow and school by achievement in all activities, in business the success or achievement of one man sometimes means success to others. People in all times of life are working to achieve something, to attain a goal aim. All the world's work is toward achievement, in peace or war. Every person starts out in life with an aim and labors in the effort to achieve that aim.

GARDEN GROVE SENIORS ARE VERY BUSY

Activities Incident to Graduation Occupy Closing Days

BY JEWELL CROWLEY

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—These are busy days for the seniors in local school. Graduation day is drawing near. The seniors are only eleven in number, but they are full of pep, and have never lacked for fun. Everything within their borders must be done in perfect style.

The names of the honored are as follows: Marie Newman, Beulah Barnett, Leland Mitchell, Eval Vincent, Eunice Clark, Frances Dungan, Emory Crist, Ruth Bonner, Ethel Emerson, Rodney Collins and Francis Russell.

The senior class of this year has had more opportunities in a way than that of last year. The new school has made life much more interesting and convenient. Better chances in athletics, and class work have been offered.

It is interesting to know the various plans of the members of the class. Marie Newman came to Garden Grove and took her place as a junior last year. She has many friends, and everyone will miss her pleasant smile. Her plans for her career after graduation are rather secret but there is a rumor that she isn't planning to go farther on in school.

Rodney Collins has already secured a position in the First National Bank of Garden Grove.

Emory Crist, who will be one of the most greatly missed seniors, has always been one of the school's star athletes. He says he has made no definite plans yet as to his future occupation.

Frances Dungan, who could never get tired of school, states that she is going on to college. She is determined to secure all that books contain for her, and who knows but she may some day be a teacher in the Garden Grove Union high.

Ruth Bonner is a girl of might. She can take her shorthand in a very creditable way, and says she is going to get a job as soon as possible.

Beulah Barnett, that little lady of might, as busy as a bee and as happy as a lark, has got some very definite plans for her immediate future. She is copying recipes and making fancy work.

Eunice Clark says she is not sure yet what she is going to do after graduation.

Francis Russell, the learned young senior, has firmly settled it that he is going to college.

Ethel Emerson says she is going to rest a year and then go to Redlands. Her record proves that she will make a real success in her college career.

Leland Mitchell has decided in his own mind not to continue school. His father has different views, and only the future can tell whose views will win. At any rate Leland, in judging his past has a promising future of some kind as the senior class of this year did.

QUOTATIONS IN DAILY USE TRAGED

BY THELMA NORDSTROM

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—Familiar quotations. Hundreds of them are used every day. Altho many are very well known, it would be quite a tax on the mind to remember where they came from or how they originated.

Everyone knows the expression, "The early bird catches the worm," which is undoubtedly the most common.

Another, "Sour Grapes," makes one think of the fox who could not reach those deliciously tempting blue grapes that hung directly over his head. He compromised with himself and impressed his mind with the fact that the grapes were sour anyway. Many of the truths in "Aesop's Fables" are of interest because they relate to little human weaknesses in a round about way.

Shakespeare knew what he was talking about when he said "All is not gold that glitters." How well he understood human nature! People often come to the conclusion that the bright glittering things are not always the only essentials of happiness.

"This rock shall fly from its firm base as soon as I." Little did Sir Walter Scott realize, when he put this line of verse into his "Lady of the Lake," that it would soon become one of the commonest expressions.

"To die is cast," said Caesar when he crossed the Rubicon. For many people these words of the noble Roman fittingly express the idea of a decision or step in an important venture.

"Birds of a feather flock together," or "You are judged by the company you keep," are neat moral adages.

Some of the old Latin quotations are very expressive. For instance, Virgil's description of gossip or rumor: "It grows as it goes."

Others, "A word to the wise is sufficient," and "With a grain of salt," are expressions that need no explanation as they are sufficiently clear in themselves.

ANAHEIM DRAWS ACTIVE YEAR TO CLOSE

School to Take Active Part In Junior Register Work Next Year, Assertion

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—The most intensive and successful year in the history of journalism at this high school is fast drawing to a close.

Journalism students, under Bert Steelhead, teacher, are concentrating on the last issue of the Anoranco, the weekly school paper, in hopes of making the final issue the best of the entire year.

It was a source of pride to the local students to know that Roma Tedford had won the cup offered by Charles Wheatley of Santa Ana to the writer of the best straight news story published in the Junior Register. Miss Tedford received her cup last week and responded with a short speech in which she voiced her thanks.

General approval of the Junior Register awards was expressed by Mr. Steelhead, and he said that Anaheim would be again among the leading schools in the Junior Register work next year. By uniting the schools of the county under one contest the Junior Register has served to stimulate journalism as nothing else ever has, the teacher said.

As a result of the increased interest in journalism this year Mr. Steelhead counts on a much larger class next year. For the first time this year the students published a magazine of thirty-six pages with a color title page executed by William Cottrell. Expressions of admiration and appreciation have marked the talk of the students of the school upon examining the magazine. Mr. Steelhead plans to make it an annual feature. Anaheim high school is the only Orange county high school to publish such a magazine, it is believed here.

If the school has to buy the machine itself, a Linotype machine will become a part of the equipment in the printing plant of the school before long Mr. Steelhead has declared. All of the school printing is done in the plant at present.

TUSTIN PLAY HELD REAL LAUGH-MAKER

BY FLORENCE BOOSEY

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, May 28.—Dark nights, mysterious visitors, disappearances, all go to make the senior play, "The Empty House," the most thrilling and interesting production yet attempted at Tustin union high school.

The action is woven about the inexplicable disappearance of the young millionaire, Anthony Allison.

Act one takes place in the apartments of the Fergusons on a dark and stormy Halloween. The Fergusons are a family of four orphans; Tom, the oldest, is a straight forward likable young playwright; Barbara, his eldest sister, who is a stenographer, is a vivacious charming girl; Fredericka, the young sister, is a well informed school girl of sixteen; and Larry, the youngest, is a hilarious mischievous school-boy of twelve.

A thrill will go down every spine when, with all lights out in the room a light is seen flickering on and off in the supposedly empty house next door; and interest mounts to a still greater pitch when, crossing from the window of the third story of the house next door via a plank, a man enters the room with a bloody handkerchief about his head.

Cinderella Phiney cannot fail to draw a laugh from the audience, first in the character of the little old Halloween witch who comes to surprise her schoolyard chum; and later as Peggy Palmer, the tantalizing flirt who in the end falls victim to the skilled archery of Dan Cudip.

Calm and calculating, cold and shrewd, plotting to install her son in place of her stepson is Edith Allison, portrayed with Margaret Rust's usual unfailing ability.

The cast is as follows: Norma (Irish maid) . . . Mae Swartz Larry Ferguson . . . Clarence Trickey Frederica Ferguson . . . June Forney Tom Ferguson . . . George Bromell Barbara Ferguson . . . Mary Dunstan Rea Reeves . . . (Miserable visitor) . . . Florence Boosey Ralph Overton . . . a young journalist) . . . John Page Peggy Palmer . . . Cinderella Phiney Anthony Allison . . . Ernest Boyton Florine (a much bewitched maid) . . . Juanita Ortega Ned (a chauffeur) . . . Joseph Fluk Edith Allison . . . Margaret Rust Constance (aunt of Anthony) . . . HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves unhappy. When Nigel is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Farnival. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart and sails with him for America.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

David turned away. "Perhaps we flatter ourselves too much," he said.

He felt restless and unhappy at the Red Grange, and he wished to be there, and just now he was back once more, he felt that he would give anything to be in London again.

Down here in the country one was so out of touch with things. Any day Fisher might have news of her, and then it would mean an elapse of hours before he, David, could be communicated with and anything could be done.

He was back in town again on the Tuesday. He went straight to Fisher's office.

"Have you any news for me?" But there was none. Monty tried to say what he had been thinking for the fortnight.

"Give it up, David—she'd come back if she wanted to. She must have recognized the advertisements I have inserted."

There was a tap at the door. A clerk entered with letters. Fisher glanced up.

"Put them down, Evans; thank you. You need not wait." But the young man still lingered.

"There is one, sir, not meant for this office, I think."

He indicated a thin envelope on the top of the others.

The name at the head of the address had caught his eye when he was sorting them—"Miss Mary Farnival," and beneath it Fisher's office address.

Mary Farnival! The name of the girl he had so romantically met in the omnibus the night the Multane went down. He had thought about her so often since, and wondered if he would ever see her again. It had given him a little stab of pain to so unexpectedly see her name written there.

Fisher glanced at it, and for a moment his eyes flashed into excitement. Then he said quietly:

"Oh yes, thank you—that will do." He looked at the young man curiously as he left the room. He was sure now that Evans knew something of Mary, or of Nigel's wife. He had felt sure of it all along, even when Evans had denied knowledge of that cable.

When the door closed, he pushed the letter over to David.

"This may help us," he said. David snatched it up.

"For Mary! Why—I shall open it, of course."

He slit the flap eagerly, and drew out the contents. They were badly written, and smeared as if with tears.

Dear Mary—I have written to you ever so many times, and never had one answer. It is unkind of you, considering all that Nigel and I did for you when we were first married.

I am in dreadful trouble, as I told you in my last letter. My husband is so ill—they say he will never be well again—and nearly all my money has gone. I ask you to see David Bretherton for me, and find out if he would do something for us. I think he might, as he got rid of me cheaply.

What did you do with the money you got for the contents of the flat? I would not ask you for it, but I must have money somehow—we want to come home, but we can't unless someone will help us.

Robert is brokenhearted that he should have brought me to this. He says over and over again that it would have been far better for me to have remained Nigel's widow than have become his wife. He doesn't know my precious brother-in-law, does he? I might have starved for all he would have cared! But you used to be kind, Mary, so do be kind now, and try and help me. If only I could come home! It's so dreadful being out here amongst strangers, and with no money.

Please cable me if you get this safely. I am sending it to Mr. Fisher's office, as no other address seems to find you.

Your miserable, unhappy Dolly.

That was all. David finished reading it to the end, then he turned back, and looked at the address.

Fisher was watching him silently. "Well?" he asked.

"It's from the woman Nigel married. She has evidently married again." There was a sort of grimace in his voice; the lines of his mouth looked hard.

"Read it—read it for yourself," he said.

He pushed the letter across.

"She seems to have very strong ideas about me. I cannot believe that she got them from Nigel."

"I always said she was no good. Nigel made the mistake of his life when he married her. Poor boy!"

CHAPTER LIV
On the Track

THERE was a little silence while Fisher read the letter.

"We know better how we stand now, at least," he said more cheerfully.

David brought his clenched hand down on the writing table before him. There was a ring of passion in his voice.

"But it doesn't tell us where she is, man," he said. "It doesn't tell me where to find her."

Fisher hesitated. Presently: "If you don't mind, I'm going to send for that clerk of mine," he said impulsively. "Don't say anything—just sit there and listen."

He rang the bell at his elbow. Evans came into the room.

"Yes, sir."

Fisher indicated the torn envelope on the table before him.

"About this letter, Evans," he said slowly. "This letter addressed to Miss Mary Farnival—do you happen to know anyone of that name?"

"The young man's face flushed. 'I did sir—yes.'"

"You mean that you no longer know anyone of that name? Don't be afraid, Evans. You may be able to help us very considerably—Mr. Bretherton and myself—if you will be straightforward and tell us all you know."

The young man glanced at David. "It isn't very much, sir," he said then, almost resentfully. "But one evening—some weeks ago—the night the Multane went down—it was, I sat next to a lady in the omnibus going home, and we got into conversation. I spoke of the boat having gone down, and she almost fainted—she said she had friends on it. She seemed very upset." He hesitated, flushing nervously.

CHAPTER LV
Alone in London

"YES—go on, said David.

"I took her home, sir. She was in deep mourning, and looked too ill to be allowed to go alone. I thought, and she asked me if I could make a few inquiries for her—about the list of her friends were saved. I asked her to tell me their names. First of all she said that a Mrs. Nigel Bretherton was her friend, and afterwards she corrected herself, and said that she was a Mrs. Robert Durham. I didn't think much of it at the time—it was before I came into your office, sir—but afterwards, when there used to be letters and business to go for Mr. Bretherton here, it occurred to me as being a strange coincidence."

"Yes—and you never saw this lady again?"

"Yes I did, and she told me that her name was Mary Farnival. I went to see her once." He looked apologetically at David; perhaps he guessed something of the true story. "But afterwards she said she was going away to stay with friends for a time; she wouldn't let me know her address, though I asked for it—I saw it—I saw it quite by chance on a label tied to some of her luggage."

He stopped once more. Both men looked up eagerly.

David Bretherton spoke for the first time.

"And what was the address?"

"The Red Grange, Selmont, shire. But—but that isn't all, sir. There was a name above it, and the name was 'Mrs. Nigel Bretherton.'"

Mary Farnival had never been so utterly wretched in all her life as when she found herself back in London once more and quite alone.

When she awoke the first morning in the small, stuffy room which she had rented from a landlady of former days, she lay still for a moment, listening to the rumble of passing traffic with a feeling of utter loneliness.

It was so different from the Red Grange. She had only to shut her eyes to picture the big, sunny bedroom, the dainty furniture and rose curtains, the wide sweep of lawn and garden outside the window.

Oh, to be back there again! To know that when she opened her eyes she would find that this last night had been nothing but a dream—a had dream from which she had awakened forever!

But there was the ugly little room, with its venetian blind in which several laths were broken, the bright-colored oleographs in their cheap frames, the painted chest of drawers and rickety washstand.

This was her home now. She ought there. She had never really had any other there. It was only what she deserved—to be turned out of her paradise.

She knew that she would have to look out for work again at once. She had spent most of that quarter's small income on the few things she had had to buy before it had been possible to go to the Red Grange.

Work! Office work and drudgery! How she had grown to hate the very sound of it in the past happy weeks!

SMITH TO PLAY FOR DELAY IN CONVENTION

NEW YORK, May 28.—Supporters of Gov. Al Smith for the Democratic presidential nomination, will play a waiting game at the convention here next month, confident in the "sticking" powers of the Smith delegates.

Because the first dramatic fight for the nomination will be between Smith and W. G. McAdoo, it is interesting to analyze their respective strength and the strategy of their leaders.

McAdoo is counting on overwhelming his chief opponent by massing the full strength of his delegates in the first three rounds of balloting trying for a knockout. To that end McAdoo will probably be on the battle ground.

Loses Support

He has already seen some of his strongest backers pull away from him and after his testimony at the oil hearing in Washington he might be said to have found himself the pilot and all the crew of his ship. Nearly everyone else had deserted. By the sheer force of his personality, courage and persuasion, during a momentous meeting after he testified before the oil committee he whipped his friends back on board again. Since then he has made a really remarkable comeback.

But McAdoo knows that while he has licked timid supporters individually, he has got to whip his supporters collectively and hold them in line if he is to win the nomination. That is why he will be on the scene of the fray himself.

On the other hand the supporters of Smith believe their chances rest in the long drawn out fight. They have made no claims of an early victory for their candidate. They have contented themselves with broadcasting this thought:

Confident of Victory

"Smith, perhaps, cannot be nominated, but if he is nominated he can be elected." The Corollary propaganda is that "McAdoo may be nominated but if he is he will be a defensive candidate at the polls."

There is no doubt that this quiet campaign of persuasion to "get aboard a winner" has had a very strong effect on supporters of McAdoo. Add to this the fact that the organization Democrats are going to swing into line behind Smith at the proper time and it is easy to understand why this strategy is to play the waiting game.

For example, George Brennan with his big Illinois delegation probably will give Mayor Dyer of Chicago a complimentary vote on a ballot or two; then there will be a division between McAdoo, Smith and Dever, but always that Illinois delegation will be waiting to swing its full force behind Smith at the psychological moment. Such has been the quiet campaign for second choice votes conducted.

Smith backers that he has tremendous strength under the surface in the delegations that will come here from Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan, all of them more or less under the watchful eye of Brennan.

Must Win Early

So the Smith fans argue, unless McAdoo can win in the first few ballots—and friends of McAdoo confirm this—there will be a steady gain in Smith's showing. Old hands at the political game are working in Smith's corner; they are learned in convention psychology; they know where their votes are and know that the time arrives for bringing out the reserves.

The big difference in the respective positions of the two leading candidates is that McAdoo has a tremendous number of votes but he doesn't know how long he can hold them; Smith hasn't so many votes but he knows he can hold them while skilled hands work to gather in more.

AFRAID SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Operation Advised, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made It Unnecessary

Glasgow, Kentucky.—"I was run down, nervous, with no appetite. My trouble for five or six years. At times it was all I could do to live, and the doctor said I couldn't live but a short time longer without an operation. That was two years ago. My sister-in-law recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She had never used it herself, but she said one of her neighbors suffered just like I did, and it cured her. After I had taken four bottles the pain left my side. I had a fine appetite to eat anything that was put before me, and I began to do all my work and my washing, something I hadn't done for years. I am a dressmaker, and this last fall I began suffering with my side again, so I began taking the Vegetable Compound again. I am on my fourth bottle, which makes eight in all I have taken. I feel so much better when I take it and everybody tells me I look better. My appetite improves and I feel stronger in every way. I am a very nervous woman and it seems to help my nerves so much."—Mrs. MAGGIE WALLER, Glasgow, Kentucky.

Stage and Screen

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS
YOST—Vaudeville and "20 a Week," with George Arliss.
WEST END—"Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," with Mary Pickford.

WALKER—"Sherlock Jr.," with Buster Keaton.

BEGAN PICTURE CAREER AT AGE OF THIRTEEN

Edith Roberts, playing the leading feminine role in "20 a Week," which comes to the Yost theater as the feature attraction tonight, is a native of New York City. Miss Roberts began her film career at the age of thirteen as a member of the famous Imp Film company which numbered among its players Mary Pickford, Jack Pickford, Owen Moore, Thomas H. Ince and many others who have achieved lasting screen fame.

When the Imp company first went to Hollywood you could count the bungalows on the fingers of one hand. It was less than a village. In recent years Miss Roberts has been starred in many pictures, among them being "Saturday Night," "Pawnee," "Thorns and Orange Blossoms," "Backbone" and "Big Brother."

AGNES AYRES IS 'FARMED' TO PLAY FILM LEAD

"I'm a farmerette now," said Agnes Ayres. "That is, I have been 'farmed out.' This remark by the star was made when she was engaged to play the principal feminine role in "When a Girl Loves," the current attraction at the Temple theater. The arrangement was made through the courtesy of the Paramount company, to whom Miss Ayres is now under contract, her services being "farmed out" to the other company. The picture was directed by Victor Hugo Halperin, who also wrote the story.

DUCK ARMY POSTPONES TAKING OF SCENE

One of the greatest laughs and undoubtedly the most comic incident which happened during the filming of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," Mary Pickford's newest production, now playing at the West End theater, was enacted by an innocent "army" of ducks.

This scene, which for obvious reasons does not show in the picture, happened while the Pickford company was on location in the famous Busch Gardens at Pasadena.

During one of the tense moments, while Miss Pickford was denouncing the impostor, Sir John Manners, twenty ducks emerged from their pond in single file, started across the greenward as fast as they could waddle. From a distance of more than a hundred yards they came, directly into the scene then being enacted.

Forming a group right in front of the camera, they seemed to assume an attitude of disgust. After noisy "quack-quacks," of recentment at the intrusion into their peaceful gardens, they then turned back in single file marched back to their shaded pond, while the Pickford orchestra accompanied them with the strains of "The March of the Wooden Soldiers."

BUSTER HAS DIFFICULTY FINDING BIRTHPLACE

Buster Keaton has just discovered that he hasn't any birthplace. Buster recently had need of a birth certificate. So "Dad" Joe Keaton, his father, wrote to the mayor of Piquay, Kansas, where Buster was born, asking for a duplicate of Buster's birth record.

The letter came back from the post office marked: "No such town listed."

Whereupon Buster wrote to Coffeyville, Kansas, which formerly was to the east of Piquay and to Cherryvale, which was forty miles away. Word came back that Piquay had ceased to exist.

Buster is at Walker's theater for his latest comedy, "Sherlock Jr."

A hilarious, not to say delirious, story about a youth in a small town who is operator in the projection booth of the local movie theater, and from long association with the celluloid becomes a picture "nut."

Cal. Tuberculosis Position Is Open

SACRAMENTO, May 26.—Public health nurses and social workers who have made a study of the care and treatment of tuberculosis patients will be interested, it was expected, in an opening which exists in the position of field worker for the bureau of tuberculosis of the state board of health.

The position involves the investigation and inspection of hospitals, clinics and other institutions engaged in the treatment of tuberculosis patients and is said to offer an excellent opportunity to women who desire to be of real service in the effort which California is making to eradicate the white plague.

Inquiries regarding this position, it was stated, should be addressed to the state civil service commission, forum building, Sacramento.

Following the convention, the Santa Anans will go to Philadelphia and Allentown, Pa. At the latter place they will visit with Mrs. Earl Rupert, grandmother of Mrs. Grace. The women never have met. At Buffalo, Mr. and Mrs. Grace will be guests at the home of a brother of the former, George C. Grace, manager of the Siegrist department store.

Following a visit to Niagara Falls, the travelers will return to Pennsylvania, spending some time at Erie, the birthplace of Mr. Grace. A reunion of the Grace family will be held there August 15.

Corporation Tax Returns Outlined

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Southern California corporations will not be required to file returns of information as to dividend payments unless payments of $500 or more were made during the year 1923 to individuals, fiduciaries or partnerships, under a ruling received from Washington today by Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue.

Payments made to corporations are not required to be reported, payments to individuals, fiduciaries and partnerships only being affected.

Daylight Saving Mixes Things Up

WASHINGTON, N. J., May 27.—The hardest thing to find here today is the correct time. For half the town 12 o'clock noon is at 11 o'clock, while with the other half 11 o'clock is noon. Officially it is 11. But in factories, business houses and schools it is 12. City officials failed to pass the daylight savings ordinance and continue to meet on standard time, but business is operated on summer time.

Bandits Rob Iowa Bank in Daylight

LAKEVIEW, Ia., May 27.—Three unmasked bandits shortly before noon held up the Wall Lake State Savings bank here, lined up the president, a clerk and several customers against a wall, and escaped with $5000 in cash and between $5000 and $10,000 in negotiable securities after marching their prisoners into a bank vault.

JACK'S ATTACK TOLD BY CARP AND GIBBONS

Battlers Who Meet May 31 Insist Champion Didn't Hurt Them Most

BY JOE WILLIAMS
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 28.—On a number of vital matters the world is singularly agreed. One of these is that soap assiduously applied will cleanse sooty ears. Another is that Jack Dempsey of fisticuffian note swings a nasty mitten. Indeed the belief is widespread that if Mr. Dempsey hits you hard and often enough your interest in the affairs of the world will cease abruptly.

Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul and Georges Carpentier of the Parisian boulevards, light heavyweights training here for their May 31 battle have both met heavyweight champion, Gibbons stood up in front of the Dempsey attack for 15 rounds. Carpentier called for his pajamas in the fourth round.

Jack Landed Once
Talking with Gibbons about hard punches I naturally expected an oration on the ferocity of the champion's attack.

"Dempsey hit me hard at Shelby, but not as hard as I have been hit before," stated the Irishman. "He only landed once squarely. That was in the first round."

"We were warming up, studying each other. Dempsey shot a right. I saw it coming. I was in such a position that if I turned my head the blow would land on my chin. So I ducked into it. The glove landed on my forehead. It stung-papery on the skin. I felt it all right but it only shook me up. It wasn't a groggy punch."

"Old Buck Crouse hit me the hardest punch I ever caught. That was in the first round. I used to keep my chin covered with my left shoulder raised high. Crouse got one over in the second round, a straight right. I didn't get down but I was 'out' on my feet. It was the only time I ever lost consciousness in the ring. It was the last time I was knocked wab."

Lewis Hit Hard
Carpenter surprised me, too. The Frenchman, talking about crushing blows, characterized Dempsey's punches as "painful."

Carpenter does not remember being knocked out, has no recollection of seeing the fateful blow start and what luck!—has no memory of its sting.

"You ask who hit me hardest? Well, it wasn't Dempsey," he answered with a chuckle. "It was another American, Willie Lewis, a welterweight. Lewis fought me in 1912. In the seventh round he hit me with a right-hand punch that lifted me in the air. I fell flat on my face. I took the count of seven, got up, and was hit again by another right. I took nine this time and the bell saved me. My jaws ached for weeks."

WEST inds

Here and There in Local Sports
By Eddie West

Mailed from Enid, Okla., where he joined the Arkansas City, Kan., club of the Southwestern league several days ago, a letter, in the scrawling hand of Hillard ("Tuffy") Tyrrell, well known Santa Ana baseball player, reached the sporting editor's desk today.

Since he and Ed Cutting, another Santa Ana, left here early last February with George Sisler and Jimmy Austin for the St. Louis Browns training camp at Mobile, Ala., "Tuffy" has done considerable globetrotting. From Mobile he barnstormed through the South with the big leaguers, went to Danville, Ill., was recalled at his own behest and then shipped out again to Arkansas City.

Hundreds of local friends are interested in the local boy's welfare and therefore parts of the letter, which wasn't written for publication and the use of which we hope "Tuffy" will forgive, follow:

"DEAR EDDIE: After looking at this stationery you might be wondering where I am. I am now with the Arkansas City club of the Southwestern league. I joined the club Friday here at Enid. We are on the road and will be for six more days. We leave tonight for some other little joint. I don't even remember the name of it."

"I think our club is in last place. Although I haven't seen an official standing I don't see how a club could do much worse. Of course, I don't know whether I'm right or not. I ought to hit a ton down here. I have been up twelve times and gotten two doubles, three singles and two walks for an average of .500. The fences are all short and I hope to knock a few boards off. The pitchers are so rotten you can't help but hit. I am down here as a catcher and th minute I reported to manager released the other two so it looks like a long, hard summer for me."

"I hit in fifth position the first two days and clean-up today. I got two hits today, one of them a double with the bases full, but even at that we got cleaned 5 to 4."

"I don't know whether to know it or not but I left Danville before the Three-I league season opened. I didn't get sent back to Enid. Friel (business manager of the St. Louis Browns) and asked him to send me some other place. He wired immediately and told me to return to St. Louis and I was there until last Thursday night."

"You couldn't guess in a year who is pitching for this Enid club. None other than old Cy Williams who pitched for us at Irvine. I nearly dropped dead when I saw him. I don't know how he got here but he is here anyway. He tried to tell these birds how to pitch to me but I guess they forgot. He didn't work against us."

"No doubt you have noticed how the Browns are going. They are a cinch to finish in the money and don't be surprised if half the world series is played in St. Louis. They don't only believe that in St. Louis but all over the league. I am sending you a clipping from a New York paper that gives the sport writers' opinions of the club. They surely looked sweet beating Detroit four in a row. I wished you could have

POLY CO-ED TRACK AGGREGATION LOSES

Anaheim Girls Victorious In First Meet of Year For Local Athletes

Although defeated by a margin of seventeen points, Santa Ana high school's girl track team yesterday afternoon provided the sensational Anaheim high school co-ed chorus with something of a surprise by close competition in every event. The final score of the first girl track meet this season gave Anaheim 47 points and Santa Ana 30 digits.

Anaheim, according to records established in past meets, has perhaps the strongest girls' ensemble in the state and one of the best in the country. A couple of members of the Mother Colony aggregation are national prep record-holders.

Miss Elizabeth Mene captured the individual ribbons of the day with three first places good for fifteen points. Miss Thelma Patton was high point "man" for Santa Ana with eleven markers to her credit.

The results follow:
60 yd. hurdles—1st, Labourdette, (A); 2nd, Patton, (SA); 3rd, Hile (A). Time, 10 flat.
Baseball throw—1st, Patton, (SA); 2nd, Quarthur, (A); 3rd, Crookshank, (SA). Distance 188 ft.

Osborne Breaks High Jump Mark
URBANA, Ill., May 28.—Harold Osborne of the Illinois Athletic club, established a new world's record for the running high jump in the University of Illinois Olympic tryouts here yesterday, clearing the bars at 6 feet, 8 1/4 inches. The old record was 6 feet, 7 1/2 inches, made by Eddie Beeson of California in 1914.

RUBE MARQUARD IMPROVED
CINCINNATI, May 28.—The condition of Rube Marquard, pitcher for the Boston Braves, who is dangerously ill here, today gave his physician much encouragement. Rube turned for the better yesterday and today was improved.

seen Ken Williams hit in those games. They couldn't get him out. "Well, I have raved on here and haven't said much but baseball is all I know these days. The train leaves in half an hour for some other dump so will have to close. Please say hello to all my friends. The Browns haven't done anything with Ed Cutting yet so far as I know. I guess he's still in St. Louis."

REGISTER TO GIVE BIG BOUT RETURNS

Results of Track Classics At Harvard and Chicago Also to Be Told

The Register's megaphone man and Santa Ana's athletic fraternity will have a busy afternoon Saturday.

In keeping with its policy of giving its readers the best possible service, The Register has made arrangements to receive and give out returns on the Gibbons-Carpentier bout, the National Intercollegiate meet at Chicago—three stadiums and the National Intercollegiate meet at Chicago—three of the biggest events on the year's sport calendar.

An extra street edition of The Register will be issued at the immediate conclusion of these attractions.

A special United Press wire will be cut into the Michigan City, Ind., arena where Gibbons and Carpentier, leading light heavyweights of the world, will battle ten rounds. This wire will lead directly into The Register office and as the blow by blow descriptions flash through the air they will be megaphoned to the crowd.

The bout is scheduled to begin at 4:30 p. m. central standard time, or 2:30 o'clock, Santa Ana time.

The National Intercollegiate cinderpath classic, in which U. S. C. Stanford and California have full teams, will begin at the same hour. Eastern time, or 1:30 o'clock, Santa Ana time. This will enable The Register to give its readers almost continuous sport service beginning about 1:30 o'clock.

Returns from the National Intercollegiate meet at Chicago in which Huntington Beach, Manual Arts and other Southern California high schools have entrants, also will be megaphoned during the afternoon.

The Register's advice is to come early. There will be no charge whatever. Come to the "ringside" as The Register's guest.

ALLEY LAURELS ARE CAPTURED BY BANKERS

Schroeder Squad Defeated By 81 Pins In Match For League Title

Championship laurels of the Santa Business Men's bowling league today roared with the American National bank team.

Playing off its tie with the Schroeder Pharmacy quintette at the Broadway academy last night, the Money Grabbers captured three out of a possible four points, losing only the third engagement of the evening.

The Bankers bumped off 2453 pins against a total of 2371 for the drugists. Their margin of 82 points made it clear that they were entitled to the title as they were opposed by one of the most formidable bowling squads in the city.

"Strike" Warner, the leading shooter of the Business Men's loop, was high point man for the champions. Warner did nothing sensational during the evening's series but he was consistently good and his 171-183-168 gave him a grand mark of 522 pins. Mull, lead-off striker for the drugists, was next in line with a total of 519. Ewing of the Bankers ranked third with 511.

WIDER STREETS AND ROADS

Here is something for our proposed County Planning Commission to think about—or, better still, to DO about. For that matter all city and county planning commissions should at least get public reaction on the proposition. Concerted and co-operative action might lead on to success in what might easily prove to be the biggest and best thing Southern California ever did in the way of civic improvement.

We quote from the Anaheim Plain Dealer:

The problem of congested traffic and resultant dangers has many angles. Many suggestions are made, from time to time, as to solutions for this vexing and menacing problem. Here is a suggestion that is timely and, it would seem, an important one—

Streets and highways should be widened. There would be no need of expanding of thoroughfares to much greater width than usual—making streets and highways so wide that several machines might drive abreast, or pass in safety, without crowding.

Wider streets and highways would add greatly to the charms of city and county. Along these broad thoroughfares trees should be planted and parking spaces created, for ornamentation. California, by starting in now to widen all thoroughfares, and by following this course persistently and consistently would create for itself world-wide distinction for the breadth and beauty of its driveways. At the same time the utilitarian aspect would be stressed. Broad streets and highways would facilitate greatly the movement of vehicular traffic and would lessen greatly the perils of the open road.

In widening highways through country districts, provision should be made for pedestrians—and at frequent intervals, provision also should be made for horseback riding. Footpaths or bridlepaths along high roads would give pedestrians and horseback riders their free and easy chance to enjoy life in the open without being imperiled constantly by the stream of traffic in mid-highway.

MISPRONOUNCING SANTA ANA

We join our voice with that of Mrs. Olive Lopez in protesting against the atrocious habit that many Santa Anas have of mispronouncing the name of their home city.

Santa Ana is a Spanish name, and should be pronounced in accordance with Spanish pronunciation. Surely, as Mrs. Lopez stated at the meeting of the Orange County Historical society, there is no reason at all for pronouncing "Santa" like "Santy."

Properly pronounced, the name is beautiful. It can be spoiled, just as any other beautiful name can be spoiled, by those who put a twang into it that doesn't belong there. Fortunately, however, the city will keep right on growing though some do say "Santy."

SNAKE SHOES IN PARIS

French women are wearing snakeskin shoes. So great is the craze that the demand has outrun the supply, and fashionable ladies are offering enormous prices for fine fells. It is de rigueur to buy extra skins at the shoe store and make up a handbag to match the shoes.

This is probably no worse than numerous other sartorial fads originating in Paris, but more interesting. The snakeskin is not necessarily to be regarded with a shudder. The snake was long esteemed by mankind as strangely wise, and a symbol of wisdom. That view is taken in the Biblical account of Paradise and the fall of our first parents. Serpent worship is a very ancient faith, at one time apparently almost universal. The "brazen serpent" of the wandering Children of Israel is an example. The Greeks always carved a snake around the staff of Hermes, god of arts, sciences and communication.

The fashionable Parisiennes probably know and care nothing of all this. They merely want something new and strange, to attract attention. To the four things Solomon was unable to understand—one of them being the way of a snake on a rock—he might have added the way of a Parisienne with clothing.

One thing sure—this fad, if it lasts, will decimate the snakes. And that may not be so bad as decimating the birds, with the late and unlamented hat fashions. Yet our naturalists, unmoved either by ancient superstitions or modern styles, say most snakes are beneficial, destroying rodents and other natural enemies of man.

"Surgeon Removes Appendix at Sea." That's nothing. Surgeons are often at sea about operations.

THE FOSSIL CAMEL

It is edifying to learn that the skull and jaws of a gigantic camel far larger than any living camel, have been discovered in Nebraska. The fact is vouched for by an expert of the American Museum of Natural History, under whose auspices the fossil-hunting expedition has been working.

This discovery will be taken by many as a symbol and a prophecy. It is unnecessary to state what the camel stands for in popular estimation. Here, if you credit the "vertebrate paleontologists," is mute but convincing evidence that America was dry millions of years ago. A country that developed so huge a camel in its prehistoric youth must have been predestined for drought from the beginning.

Other discoveries of the expedition include the tooth of an extinct species of ape, the skulls and bones of three-toed horses and specimens of long-extinct deers.

And all this in Mr. Bryan's own state! What will the sworn foe of evolution and champion of prohibition say now, especially about the camel?

POWER IN WASHINGTON

The congressional proposal for the hydro-electric development of the Potomac river, for the benefit of the District of Columbia, is approved by Major General Black, formerly chief of the army engineers, and by various other experts.

It is interesting not only because it is a national affair but because of its location. Great waterpower projects are usually thought of as far distant from the bureaucratic and political atmosphere of Washington. The average American would almost as soon have expected to find another Yosemite or Mammoth Cave in the District of Columbia as a moderate-sized Niagara Falls or Muscle Shoals.

It is estimated that the harnessing of the Potomac would cost $50,000,000 to $75,000,000. Engineers can say whether that is excessive for the results expected. If there is great power there going to waste, and if it can be utilized without wasteful expenditure in building the plant, it would be a boon to the people of the district and an illuminating and lasting example to Congress of the similar opportunities elsewhere in the country.

Hydro-electric development is certainly as important as politics, as far as the future of the country is concerned.

Riverside's Trees

Santa Monica Outlook

A clipping came to our desk, forwarded by Mrs. Alfred L. Black, who is sojourning in Riverside. Evidently she has been impressed by the beauty of the trees in that city and the manner in which they are protected and cherished. From a booklet describing the beauties of Riverside she clips the following:

"Another differentiating feature is the long and intelligent attention that has been paid to its trees. The city was the first in the United States to employ the services of a tree warden, a public official whose duty it is to look exclusively after the trees lining its street. The broad streets in the very heart of the business district are lined with palms that give the city a touch of rare beauty."

"There are 200 miles of paved streets within the municipal boundaries. All these, with their umbrageous pepper and umbrella trees, their state eucalyptus, their Oriental palms, and their endless hedges of roses, grip the attention of the visitors and constitute an asset of inestimable value."

Read these last five words again, "an asset of inestimable value." That is what the people of Riverside think of their trees. They consider them an asset and are proud of the fact that trees are lining the streets of the business section.

That proves definitely and conclusively that it is possible to have a business district with trees along the curb. It is no more theory that such a thing is possible, but a proved fact. When a debatable matter comes up and no one seems to know what the outcome might be, it is customary to profit by the experience of others.

Riverside's experience proves that trees are profitable and valuable, why would it not be a good thing to take a leaf from that city's book and, not hurriedly and wantonly destroy hundreds of trees which it will take years to replace?

It cannot be possible that the people of Riverside are more intelligent than those of Santa Monica. We would hardly want to say that, but it is very evident that they think farther ahead than do some of us, and that when the time comes they are going to reap a harvest of satisfaction where we are going to garner sheaves of bitter regret.

Changing the State Law

Redlands Facts

The San Bernardino Sun discusses editorially the suggested plan of repealing Amendment No. 1, as that part of the State Constitution which outlines the plan of state taxation is known. The Sun argues that if the basis is the same as that of the year 1914-15, San Bernardino county would save 43 per cent of her county taxes, or to put it so it will appeal a little more, San Bernardino county taxpayers would be favored with a reduction of 43 per cent of their taxes, because of the fact that the state plan treats us very unfairly, due to the great mileage of railroads in this county, all of which property is set apart for state taxation only.

The Sun says that frankly it does not see much chance of repealing Amendment No. 1, because the corporations, while they rhetorically speaking and sometimes literally speaking swear at the amendment at the same time they all stand by it; but the Sun suggests that perhaps at the time of the adoption of the King Tax Bill, which for once carried to the public service corporations a rate of taxation on a par with that on the private or individual taxpayer, the corporations might have been willing to have considered such repeal.

But they wouldn't, even then. It is history of record that Assemblyman Isaac Jones of the western end of this county introduced a constitutional amendment to repeal the present tax scheme at the very same session the King bill was adopted, but the railroads fought it as a part of their regular program of lobbying, and they succeeded in defeating it. As a matter of fact and figures, they want the present plan of taxation, because it favors them. While they do not succeed in "passing on" all the burden of their taxation to the people, they do get by with much the greater share of it, and they prefer to take their chances with a Legislature than with all the assessors of 58 counties, especially if they can get a complacent gubernatorial administration.

There is one thing which might carry at this time, which would relieve the people, although there would yet remain the present injustice to San Bernardino county. It is the proposed constitutional amendment to apportion to the counties the surplus remaining in the state treasury, at certain given periods, such apportionment to be in proportion to their taxable values. Then the people would demand economy in state administration, to the end that a surplus should be accumulated, and all the representatives, except those directly controlled by the corporations would have pressure upon them to fix the rates paid by the corporations on a parity with those paid by the people.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

PREVENTING HEART DISEASE

You have often wondered just what was meant by heart disease, and have perhaps had the idea that it was something that was part of one's make up when he was born. Perhaps you have also thought that some heavy work, some extreme athletic test has produced it.

Now, as I mentioned once before, the little fleshy pieces of tissue that close the opening in the heart get inflamed, just like an inflammation anywhere else in the body. While the inflammation subsides these valves, as they are called, have some of their natural tissue replaced by hard fibrous tissue, just like the scar tissue that remains after a burn.

This means that instead of being a small rounded valve fitting into its opening completely, the scar tissue causes some "puckering" of the edges, and through those little puckers the blood flows back into the chamber from whence it just came—a leaky pump as it were.

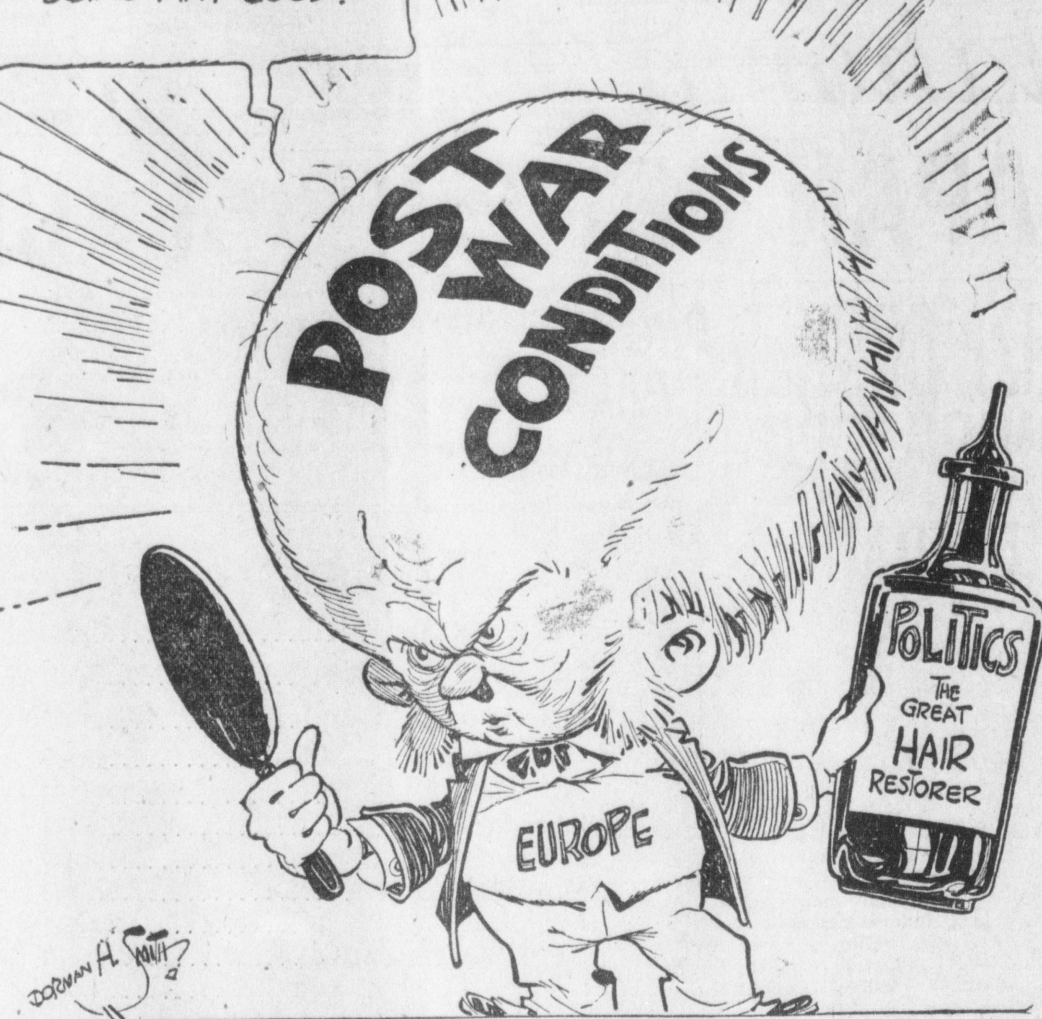

Now, if your heart muscle grows strong again, as it should, Nature enables you to get along all right just the same as you use a leaky pump perhaps for years. That is, for all ordinary purposes you should get along, and live as long as the other fellow. But if in addition to the leaky valves, the heart muscle is weak, then when a severe illness comes along you'll have a hard time.

Now what is my thought? Why not try to prevent heart disease? How? Well, your doctor will tell you that most cases of heart disease come along very quietly, and without much discomfort at first.

A sore throat, bad tonsils, bad teeth, some nose ailment, or even intestinal disturbance is usually the cause of trouble. If youngsters begin to have growing pains, or you have some rheumatic pains, don't forget to let your doctor examine your heart. A little rest at this time, with nourishing food, and light exercise later in the form of walking, will prevent heart disease very often.

Ah, That Is the Question!

I WONDER IF THIS DOPE IS REALLY DOING ANY GOOD?

CHARITY CHILDREN AT ST. PAUL'S

Twos on a holy Thursday, their innocent faces clean,
The children walking two and two, in red and blue and green;
Gray-headed beadles walked before, with wands as white as snow,
Till into the high dome of Paul's they like Thames' waters flow.

Oh, what a multitude they seemed, these flowers of London town,
Seated in companies they sit, with radiance all their own;
The hum of multitudes was there, but multitudes of lambs,
Thousands of little boys and girls, raising their innocent hands.

Now like a mighty wind they raise to heaven the voice of song,
Or like harmonious thunderings the seats of heaven among;
Beneath them sit the aged men, wise guardians of the poor,
Then cherish pity, lest you drive an angel from your door.

—William Blake.

It makes a whole lot of difference whether one is on the inside looking out, or on the outside looking in.

True, even of the Garden of Eden.

The modern world prefers being on the outside, looking in. It prefers being on the ground level of humanity, looking upward.

It believes in aspiration, rather than in self satisfaction. The ancient world believed in looking at itself as "fallen." The modern world regards itself as rising "by things that are 'neath our feet.' And we are the better for it.

Our minds are always the greater minds because of our vision of contrasts. This contrast we have is the contrast that looks upward toward the bettering of ourselves, of our friends, of our country, of the world we live in. It does not look down from a pharisaical height to the horrors and degradation of hell. It looks up toward the joy and usefulness of heaven.

We do not believe in a Garden of Eden from which we have been flung. We believe in a Garden to which, with the help of the divinity within ourselves, as men, we can go.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking to himself and ma was darning holes out of stockings, saying, Willyum, shut your eyes a minnit.

They're shut, pop sed, I bet you're going to come over and kiss me and make me gess who did it, he sed.

Don't flatter yourself, ma sed. Keep on smoking, I want you to keep on smoking just the same, she sed.

Wat for, I don't get any kick out of smoking with my eyes closed, pop sed, and ma sed, Ah, that's just it, that proves it.

Proves wat, for instants? pop sed opening his eye.

Wy, it proves you don't exactly enjoy the taste of the smoke, its jest the site of it that you get pleasure out of, ma sed.

Well, there may be something in that, at that, pop sed, and ma sed, Centeny theres something in it, in other words, its true, and I have an idea.

I don't think Im intristed, pop sed, and ma sed, Centeny you are, don't be rediculus, and now this is the idea. As long as its only the site of the smoke that gives you eny satisfaction, wy don't you get an incense burner and lite it several times a day and then you can see all the smoke you want to without eny enjurious effects to your system and with practically no ipense. Maybe I can find you an incense burner in the shape of a cigar and that will make the illusion perfect, she sed.

The dooce it will, pop sed. Ive got a better idea than that. You see, its reel tobacco smoke that I crave the site of, so Ill jest get a little crowd of fellows together and we'll play poker heer every nite, or maybe any every other nite, and everybody will smoke but me, and you know how I or 5 men can smoke a cigar at once can pritty well fill a room with smoke, so Ill get a good eyeful and it will be a reel test of your theory, pop sed.

And you knows, maybe in a few months we can cut down the games to one or 2 a week, he sed.

O well, there may be nothing in the theory enyway, ma sed. Theres no use going to a lot of trubbel about it, she sed.

Meaning she didnt like the sound of pops idee.

States and Child Labor

New York Sun

It is almost twenty years since John Spargo wrote "The Bitter Cry of the Children," and H. G. Wells in his book on America gave a scathing chapter to child labor. It is seven years since congress invaded the rights of the states" by the first of its two attempts to prohibit child labor, both found unconstitutional.

Backward states have had ample warning that public sentiment was determined to stop child labor by national action if it was not ended by state laws. Yet when the child labor amendment passed the house recently the same old cry was raised of "Let the states alone; they will soon act." In the senate the opponents will rely upon Southern members rallying to the state rights cry.

Actually, the states will not lose the right to legislate on child labor. The federal amendment calls for a law which will fix minimum standards but will allow any state to enact fuller legislation of its own. The one right that a few laggard commonwealths will lose is the right to abuse small children and to carry on a cutthroat competition with more enlightened neighbors on the basis of this cheap labor.

It is the height of inconsistency for congressmen from Southern states which passed the prohibition amendment with a whoop to declare that state rights are violated by this new amendment. The makers of the Constitution framed the instrument for 3,000,000 people, mostly on farms, without factories or industrial problems. They would be the first to cry out against the absurdity of fettering legislation for a great industrial nation of 110,000,000 people by strict adherence to the letter of 1788.

Whatever injures the health, morals and education of small children injures national welfare, and when it occurs on this scale and with this persistency it is a subject for national action. The House vote, 297 to 69, holds out hope that the necessary two-thirds can be obtained in the senate.

Birds' Nests

Although all birds hide their nests more or less, some seem to take especial pains to do so. The meadow lark, which builds on the ground in the midst of a field, arches its nest over with grass, so that it is invisible from above, and can only be seen from close to the ground, and then only from in front.

The oven bird uses a like method on the ground in the woods, covering its nest with dead leaves, so that it is one of the hardest of all nests to find.

The humming bird saddles its tiny nest to a branch, and though no leaves may hide it, it is all but invisible. The outside is covered with small pieces of lichen, fastened with spider web or plant fibers, so that the nest, which measures only about an inch across, looks exactly like a bump or excrescence on the branch.

The wood pewee and several of the flycatchers use a similar means of concealment, saddling their nests carefully to bare branches. The marsh wren builds a bulky globular nest in the reeds and uses a unique method of concealing it. Since the nest is large and not easy to hide, the wrens build a general, only one of which is used. The others serve as "dummy" nests.

The nighthawk lays its eggs on the ground, on a flat rock, or a gravel roof, and they match their background so well as to be nearly invisible. The whippoorwill lays its eggs on the ground in the deep woods, where both the bird and eggs match their surroundings to perfection.

The hornbill female nests in a hole in a tree, and during incubation the male imprisons her by sealing up the entrance with mud. Only a small opening is left, through which he supplies her with food. The tailor bird sews the edges of a large growing leaf around the nest, completely concealing it from view.—Laurence H. Snyder in American Forests and Forest Life.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 14—MISTER CROW HEARS FINE NEWS

"I don't care whether it's honest or not," declared Mister Crow sourly, "but just as soon as Farmer Jones' corn is up, I'm going to take my wife and children to the cornfield on a picnic and eat all the nice juicy young sprouts of corn I can hold. And I'm going to tell them to eat all they can hold, too. So now there!"

"Shame on you, Mister Crow," said Mister Bags, the fairy storekeeper. "Why, pickles and porcupines! If all the birds felt the same as you do, there wouldn't be any corn left to grow up at all. And there wouldn't be any nice roasting ears next fall for the children to eat. And worst of all, there wouldn't be any corn to get dry and store away, so that the horses and cows and chickens and pigs and turkeys won't starve to death next winter."

"Humph! What do I care!" cried Mr. Crow. "You sound exactly like a lecture, Mister Bags, and I don't like lectures. And the cows and chickens may as well starve as me."

"But yob won't starve. There are lots and lots of things for you to eat, Mister Crow," said Nancy. "You sound just like a lecture, too!" declared the big black bird. "And I didn't come in to be lectured. I came in to find out if Farmer Jones has bought his seed corn yet for planting."

"Yes, he has," snapped Mister Bags. "And if you take any of it, I hope the scarecrow gets after you."

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Mister Crow, now in a very good humor because he found out what he came for. "The scarecrow isn't anything but some old sticks dressed up and that old gun he carries isn't worth a bean-shooter. It's only a stick, too. I'm a wise old crow, I am. You can't fool me. Ha, ha, ha!"

And he stumbled out of the door, still crying ha, ha, ha (which sounded like caw, caw, caw) and nearly knocked over Cutie Cotton-tail who had come in to buy a bag of candy.

"Oh, get out of my way," exclaimed Mister Crow, shoving him rudely. "Where are your manners?"

You can't blame Cutie for making a face at him behind his back, for the bad manners were all Mister Crow's—nobody else's in the world.

More good news awaited Mister Crow upon his arrival home. His wife met him at the door with the words, "What do you think, Christopher? Today as I was sitting on a fence beside the corn field, I thought I saw something green sticking up out of the mud. So I flew down and tasted it—and what do you s'pose it was! Corn! It's starting to sprout all over the field. By tomorrow it will be up as plain as day and we can take the children and have a picnic. I ate quite a few grains which came up easily, and they were the most delicious things I ever put into my mouth."

"Hooryay!" cried Mister Crow, flapping his black wings and grinning until he nearly put his beak out of joint. "I'm going over this minute! It's not dark yet, and maybe I can get a bite or two. I'm nearly starved!"

Way he flew.
